JAMES L. DOLAN

EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN,
THE MADISON SQUARE GARDEN COMPANY

As executive chairman of The Madison Square Garden Company (MSG), James L. Dolan oversees the company's many entities, including its world-famous arena complex, professional sports teams, sports and entertainment networks, and historic showplaces. Mr. Dolan also serves as president and chief executive officer of Cablevision Systems Corporation, one of the nation's leading media and telecommunications companies.

In his role at The Madison Square Garden Company, Mr. Dolan is responsible for the Company's overall growth strategy and manages all of its operations. He also serves as governor to the National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League on behalf of the New York Knicks and Rangers.

To ensure the standing of the Company's premier venues, Mr. Dolan has taken on a number of restoration projects throughout his tenure. In Inglewood, California, the legendary Forum arena is currently undergoing a renovation that will create the largest indoor performance venue in the country focused on music and entertainment. This follows the October 2013 completion of a three-year Transformation of the Madison Square Garden Arena designed to significantly enhance the experience of customers, athletes, entertainers, suite holders and partners. Mr. Dolan was also the catalyst for a restoration of the Company's Beacon Theatre, which was renewed to its former grandeur in early 2009. Among his most significant accomplishments as MSG chairman, Mr. Dolan also spearheaded a multimillion-dollar restoration of Radio City Music Hall in 1999, returning the national landmark and MSG showpiece to its original splendor.

Over the past few years, Mr. Dolan has taken additional steps to expand MSG's entertainment properties. They include the addition of The Chicago Theatre, which was built in 1921 as one of the country's most opulent motion picture houses, and the Forum, which has been a celebrated arena in the Greater Los Angeles area since its opening in 1967.

Mr. Dolan has led MSG's response to local and national tragedies. He played a principal role in organizing several extraordinary benefit concerts, including "12-12-12," which raised more than $50 million for the victims of Hurricane Sandy; "The Concert For New York City," which generated more than $35 million in aid for 9/11 victims and heroes; and "From The Big Apple to The Big Easy," which raised nearly $9 million for Hurricane Katrina relief. Mr. Dolan also supports The Madison Square Garden Company's ongoing commitment to the community, particularly through the Garden of Dreams Foundation, the non-profit charity that works closely with all areas at the company to help children throughout the New York metropolitan area.

In addition to his leadership role at The Madison Square Garden Company, Mr. Dolan is president and chief executive officer of Cablevision Systems Corporation, which served as MSG's parent company until February 2010, when the sports, media and entertainment business became a standalone, public company. Mr. Dolan oversees Cablevision's comprehensive portfolio of advanced Optimum-branded telecommunications products, including its digital television, digital voice and high-speed Internet services, and Optimum WiFi, the nation's largest regional wireless Internet network.

Also under his purview, and serving the New York tri-state area, are Cablevision's local media properties, which include News 12 Networks and Newsday Media Group, featuring Long Island's leading daily newspaper, Newsday.

Prior to assuming his present posts at Cablevision and The Madison Square Garden Company, Mr. Dolan was chief executive officer of Rainbow Media Holdings, the former Cablevision programming subsidiary that became a separate, public company named AMC Networks Inc. in June 2011. Mr. Dolan began his career with Cablevision in the 1970s and held a variety of executive positions before overseeing Rainbow Media.

Mr. Dolan serves on the board of directors for The Madison Square Garden Company and AMC Networks, and is a member of Cablevision's board of directors and its executive committee. He is also on the board of The Lustgarten Foundation, an organization he helped found in 1998 which today is the nation's largest private supporter of pancreatic cancer research. In addition, he sits on the boards of C-SPAN and the Breathe Easy Play Hard Foundation, and is a member of the New York University Steinhardt Dean's Council.

HANK J. RATNER

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER,
THE MADISON SQUARE GARDEN COMPANY

Hank J. Ratner is president and chief executive officer of The Madison Square Garden Company (MSG), which includes renowned performance venues, entertainment properties, professional sports teams and television networks. Mr. Ratner directs the overall strategy and day-to-day operations of the business. He also serves as alternate governor to the National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League on behalf of the New York Knicks and New York Rangers.

The Company's signature assets consist of some of the nation's most dynamic and powerful sports, media and entertainment brands. This diverse collection of properties includes a portfolio of iconic venues: New York's Madison Square Garden, Radio City Music Hall and Beacon Theatre; the Forum in Inglewood, California; The Chicago Theatre; and the Wang Theatre in Boston. In addition, MSG owns and operates professional sports teams, the New York Knicks, Rangers and Liberty; MSG Entertainment and its entertainment properties, including the Radio City Christmas Spectacular, featuring the legendary Radio City Rockettes; regional sports and entertainment networks, MSG and MSG+; and Fuse, a national music network.

In February of 2010, Mr. Ratner led the spin-off of Madison Square Garden from Cablevision Systems Corporation and, today, The Madison Square Garden Company is a thriving, stand-alone, public company. Recently, Mr. Ratner spearheaded the top-to-bottom Transformation of the iconic Madison Square Garden Arena, which was designed to significantly enhance the experience of customers, athletes, entertainers, suite holders and partners. Completed in October 2013, the historic three-year project has resulted in new seating, improved sightlines, spectacular public concourses, an expanded lineup of exclusive clubs and suites, new food offerings by some of the best chefs in the world, and exhibits that pay homage to the building's storied history. The Transformation also includes a dramatically redesigned Seventh Avenue entrance and two new bridges suspended above the playing surface for a one-of-a-kind viewing experience, as well as the restoration of The Garden's distinctive and celebrated ceiling.

Mr. Ratner served as MSG's vice chairman for seven years before being named president and chief executive officer following MSG's spin-off from Cablevision. Throughout his tenure, Mr. Ratner has been influential in formulating and implementing the strategic direction for MSG's multi-faceted business. For example, he has played a key role in bringing some of the country's landmark venues under MSG management. Over the last six years, these have included The Beacon Theatre, The Chicago Theatre, the Wang Theatre and, most recently, the Forum. In addition, Mr. Ratner is the architect of the company's integrated business approach, designed to capitalize on MSG's unique combination of iconic venues, sports and entertainment content, and programming and distribution networks, by strategically aligning these assets to work together to deliver incomparable opportunities and exceptional experiences for partners, entertainers, customers and fans.

As chairman of The Garden of Dreams Foundation, the non-profit that works closely with The Madison Square Garden Company, Mr. Ratner has been the visionary behind the charity's commitment to "make dreams come true for children facing obstacles." Its extraordinary relationship with the company allows the Foundation to do what no other charity in the world can do – use the magic and power of MSG's assets to create on-going, unforgettable programs that improve the lives of kids and their families. Since its inception in 2006, Garden of Dreams has worked with all areas of MSG – including the Knicks, Rangers, Liberty, MSG Media and MSG Entertainment – to create thousands of unique and unforgettable experiences that have brightened the lives of more than 235,000 children.

Mr. Ratner has also served as vice chairman of Cablevision Systems Corporation since 2003. In this role, he helps to set corporate direction and strategy for the media and telecommunications company whose portfolio of operations includes a full suite of advanced digital television, voice and high-speed Internet services, and valuable local media and programming properties. Prior to serving as MSG and Cablevision vice chairman, Mr. Ratner served as COO and then vice chairman of Rainbow Media Holdings, Cablevision's former programming subsidiary which became AMC Networks, a separate company, after its spin-off in June 2011.

Mr. Ratner joined Cablevision as assistant general counsel in 1987. A year later, he moved to Rainbow Media, rising to the position of Rainbow's chief operating officer in 1998. Mr. Ratner was then promoted to vice chairman of Cablevision before also being named vice chairman of MSG in 2003.

Previously, Mr. Ratner was an associate with the law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell. He received a bachelor's degree and doctorate of law with distinction from Emory University.

STEVE MILLS

PRESIDENT & GENERAL MANAGER

On Sep. 26, 2013, Steve Mills returned to The Madison Square Company and was named the team's president and general manager. A 30-year veteran of the sports world, Mills' career has included 16 years with the National Basketball Association, where his talents led to a notable ascent from account executive to senior vice president of basketball and player development. This was followed by 10 years at The Madison Square Garden Company, where Mills had a wide range of responsibilities that included overseeing business and basketball operations for the Knicks and Liberty, along with business operations for the Rangers and for all other sports-related activities at The Garden.

"I am pleased to be able to welcome Steve back to the Knicks. He is a well-respected sports executive with a strong background in basketball, as well as a familiarity with NBA operations and our company. We look forward to his leadership and believe he is the right person to help us reach our ultimate goal of winning an NBA Championship," said James Dolan, executive chairman of The Madison Square Garden Company, at the time of Mills' return.

Mills' decade-long career at The Madison Square Garden Company included his role as president of MSG Sports, during which he oversaw all business operations, including marketing and community relations, for the company's three professional sports teams and Sports Properties, which included college basketball, boxing, and track and field. Steve originally joined the Knicks as executive vice president of franchise operations in September 1999 and became president of sports teams operations for Madison Square Garden in 2001.

On his return: "I want to thank Jim for this opportunity to return to the Knicks in this important position. It is an honor and a privilege to work for such a storied franchise and I look forward to doing whatever it takes to make the Knicks a successful franchise and a team that fans can be proud of, both now and in the future."

Prior to his move to The Garden, Mills played an integral role in the development of the National Basketball Association, where he held several positions with increasing responsibility, including his last role as senior vice president, basketball and player development. His responsibilities included managing the league's relationships with all domestic and international basketball organizations, including the NCAA and USA Basketball, as well as overseeing the NBA's developmental programs and player initiatives during one of the most critical periods in league history. Mills also played a key role in the creation of the Women's National Basketball Association and served on the team responsible for the negotiation of the NBA's Collective Bargaining Agreement. Mr. Mills started his career with the NBA in 1983 as an account executive in the corporate sponsorship department of NBA Properties.

Before returning to MSG, Mills most recently served as partner and CEO of Athletes & Entertainers Wealth Management Group, LLC, a company he created in 2010 that links sports and entertainment stars with investment and management leaders to create new business opportunities.

An accomplished collegiate basketball player, Mills started three seasons at guard for Hall of Fame Coach Pete Carril at Princeton University, where he helped lead the Tigers to two Ivy League first place finishes, including the league title and an NCAA berth in 1981. He also played professionally for one season in South America in 1981.

Mills earned a degree in sociology from Princeton in 1981, and has served on the Board of Trustees for the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame and the Board of Directors for USA Basketball. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Princeton Varsity Club and on the Advisory Board for Manhattan's Hospital for Special Surgery. ALLAN HOUSTON

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

After a playing career that stamped him as one of the greatest Knicks ever to wear the orange and blue, Allan Houston is now fully established as one of the game's rising young executives.

Currently in his sixth season as a member of the Knicks' front office, Houston is in his fourth year as assistant general manager, following two years as assistant to the president, basketball operations. In his current role, Allan oversees the Knicks scouting department (college, pro and international), serves as general manager and oversees all operations of New York's D-League affiliate, the Erie BayHawks, and assists president and general manager Steve Mills.

Last year's 54-win season struck a resounding chord with Houston, who was a member of the last Knicks team to enjoy comparable success in the win column - the 57-game winners of 1996-97, his first season in New York.

"It was gratifying because you saw how players grow, not only as individuals but in their maturity and leadership," says Houston, 42, who officially joined the Knicks front office on Nov. 7, 2008. "You really saw that drive and hunger to win. When you see how their attention to detail grew, that's when you understand what winning is about. It was also gratifying in just hearing fans and the community saying how much fun it was again."

The Knicks' single-team affiliation with the BayHawks is currently in its third season, with Houston spearheading New York's commitment to its D-League affiliate.

"Over time, as we've discussed our final goals, we've started to take a more active role in having the D-League be a factor in what we're doing," says Allan. "It's been great. We've had some guys go to Erie and have some success. It's been a great evaluation tool. I've really enjoyed working with the ownership and the community in Erie. It's been a great experience."

A two-time NBA All-Star (in 2000 and 2001), Houston's front office career comes on the heels of a stellar 12-year playing tenure over which he averaged 17.3 points, including two 20-plus scoring seasons with the Knicks.

After three years in Detroit, Allan spent nine seasons (1996-97 through 2004-05) with the Knicks and earned a prominent place among the team's greatest performers. He is fourth on the all-time Knicks career scoring list with 11,165 points, trailing only Hall of Famers Patrick Ewing (23,665), Walt Frazier (14,617) and Willis Reed (12,183). Houston is also second among all-time Knicks in three-point field goals (921, to John Starks' 982), third in free throw percentage (.872), and sixth in minutes (21,724).

The commitment the Knicks made to him nearly two decades ago plays a major role in Houston's philosophy as an executive.

"I always go back to how it was for me," says Allan. "The Knicks saw something in me and then helped me be the best I could be. For me, the satisfaction I get the most is when a player has a lot of potential and you can recognize it, so that when he gets here we can say, "What can we do to make him the best he can be?' The process is that you're always trying to improve and get better, whether it's through evaluation from a scouting perspective or through negotiation, or in talking to the coaches. What I find most gratifying is really trying to understand the player and the process of how he can be the best he can be."

A key member of the Knicks' 1999 Eastern Conference Championship team, Allan authored perhaps the single most-famous shot in franchise history, his unforgettable running one-hander that went off both the rim and the backboard before dropping through with :00.8 left to give New York a series-clinching 78-77 win in Game Five of the first Playoff round at Miami (May 16, 1999). Houston scored a career-high 53 points at Los Angeles against the Lakers on Feb. 16, 2003.

Limited by knee injuries to just 70 games over his last two Knicks seasons, Allan announced his retirement as an active player on Oct. 17, 2005, although he did attempt comebacks (both injury-shortened) during training camp in 2007 and 2008. At NBA All-Star Weekend in 2012 at Orlando, he donned his familiar No. 20 and teamed with Landry Fields and the Liberty's Cappie Pondexter to win the Haier Shooting Stars competition on All-Star Saturday.

On Feb. 23, 2011, Houston was honored as a Knicks Legend for the period from 2000-2010. One month later, on Mar. 6, 2011, his No. 20 was retired by the University of Tennessee in honor of a brilliant four-year college career over which he scored a school record 2,801 points (Allan joined former Knicks Bernard King and Ernie Grunfeld as the only Vols in school history to have their numbers retired). Houston also averaged 8.0 points for the gold medal-winning U.S. squad at the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney.

Houston's longstanding community efforts - which earned him recognition for six straight years (2000 through 2005) as one of The Sporting News' "Good Guys in Sports" - have continued in full force in his post-playing career. He oversees the Allan Houston Legacy Foundation, which was founded in 2001 and has served over 1,500 participants across the country through original programs in fatherhood and entrepreneurship to facilitate individual and collective growth through initiatives that, 1) restore a strong family unit, 2) provide economic empowerment through entrepreneurship, 3) encourage education and life skill development and 4) enhance spiritual growth.

Allan co-hosts the annual "Father Knows Best" Basketball Retreat with his father Wade, a Christian faith-based weekend initiative designed to help fathers develop and strengthen their relationships with pre-teen and teenage sons. Currently in its tenth year, the program has expanded nationwide. In addition, the Allan Houston Business Education and Development Program has encouraged and empowered young entrepreneurs for the last six years.

In the summers of 2010 and 2011, Allan traveled to Israel under the auspices of AIPAC (American-Israel Public Affairs Committee), speaking in front of 11,000 at AIPAC's national conference in 2011. In summer 2011, he participated in the NBA's Basketball Without Borders/Rio de Janeiro goodwill trip. Allan was named "Father of the Year" by the National Fatherhood Initiative in 2007, "Social Entrepreneur of the Year" by Tulane University in 2008, and received the President's Council on Service and Civic Engagement Award from the Obama Administration in 2011. Honored by the New York Press Photographers Association with its 1999 "Good Guy" award, Allan created the Wade Allan Houston Scholarship at the University of Tennessee in 2003. In August 2013, Allan and his late grandfather William Kean, a preeminent high school coach, were inducted into the Kentucky High School Basketball Hall of Fame.

Born on Apr. 20, 1971 in Louisville, Allan and his wife Tamara are proud parents of seven children: daughter Remie (14; born on Jun. 12, 1999, one day after Allan's 32-point heroics in NY's Eastern Conference-clinching Game Six win over Indiana), sons Allan III (12) and Asher (1), and daughters Rowan (9), Jade (6), Jodi Jean (5) and Truth Grace (3). A graduate of the University of Tennessee (BA, African-American Studies), Allan played collegiately for his father Wade, then the Vols' head coach. Allan's father and mother, Wade and Alice, are partners in Louisville-based HJI Inc., the nation's largest minority-owned trucking and storage company.

MIKE WOODSON

HEAD COACH

Under the harshest of spotlights, Mike Woodson has written an immediate and resounding success story.

Last year, in his first full season at the helm of the Knickerbockers, he led the team to a 54-28 (.659) mark - its highest win total since 1996-97 - and to its first Atlantic Division Championship since 1993-94. That came on the heels of the 18-6 mark he registered in the final weeks of the 2011-12 season, after he was initially named interim head coach on Mar. 14, 2012.

Woodson is currently in his third season in New York and his 17th campaign as an NBA coach, having signed a multi-year extension as Knicks head coach on May 25, 2012. He entered the 2013-14 season with a 72-34 (.679) mark as Knicks head coach. His .679 winning percentage is the second-best in franchise history, just behind Pat Riley's .680.

"The expectations were so high coming into last season, based on getting to the Playoffs the year before," says the 55-year old Woodson, the 25th head coach in Knicks franchise history. "We brought in a bunch of veteran guys that could still play and everybody seemed to play their role. Even though we had a lot of injuries, we were still deep enough to the point where we could overcome a lot of them and still move from the seventh spot the year before to second, and win our division. So overall, I just thought we had a positive year.

"Unfortunately, we didn't get where we wanted. We wanted to get to the Eastern Conference Finals and perhaps have a shot at getting to The Finals, and that was disappointing in that regard. We have a chance this year to improve on what we did last year, and that's what we're looking to do."

Woodson, who guided the Knicks to their first appearance in the Eastern Conference Semifinals since 2000, finished third in the media balloting for the 2012-13 NBA Coach of the Year award, behind Miami's Erik Spoelstra and the eventual winner, Denver's George Karl. He was named NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month for April 2013, leading the Knicks to an 8-2 mark and becoming the first Knicks mentor to win the monthly coaching honor since Riley in March 1994.

Mike also became the fourth coach to lead the Knicks to an Atlantic Division title, joining the Hall of Fame trio of Red Holzman (1970-71), Rick Pitino (1988-89) and Riley (1992-93 and 1993-94). He led the Knicks to 13 straight wins from Mar. 18-Apr. 9, 2013, the third-longest winning streak in franchise history. Fittingly, the final win of the streak, a 120-99 rout of Washington on Apr. 9, mathematically clinched New York's first division title in nearly two decades.

Woodson originally joined the Knicks as an assistant coach on Aug. 29, 2011, a little more than three decades after his NBA journey began as a Knicks rookie in 1980, He owns a 278-320 (.465) career won-loss mark in eight seasons as an NBA head coach (six with Atlanta, two with New York). The owner of two 50-plus win seasons, last year's 54 victories were a personal high for Woodson.

"When you talk to our team and our players, this is not about me," says Mike. "It's never been about me. I coach for one reason and one reason only, and that's to win games and try to win an NBA title. That's what I'm in it for. So it isn't about me from an individual standpoint. It's about trying to take a team of 14 or 15 guys and try to make it work, try to get these guys to believe that they're the best team in the NBA. That's where I get my satisfaction from. The press is going to react off things that they see or hear, and I can never control that. But I can control the players to a certain extent in terms of what is expected of them on and off the court, and to me that means more than anything."

Woodson joined the Knicks staff following six seasons as head coach of the Atlanta Hawks (2004-05 through 2009-10), over which he compiled a 206-286 (.419) record. He guided the Hawks to the NBA Playoffs in each of his last three seasons (including 2007-08, ending Atlanta's eight-year Playoff drought), and into the Eastern Conference Semifinals in his last two seasons.

The Hawks increased their win total in each of Woodson's six seasons in Atlanta, going from 13-59 in 2004-05 to 53-29 in 2009-10. Woodson's 206 wins with Atlanta are fourth-best in Hawks franchise history, trailing only Hall of Famer Richie Guerin (327), Mike Fratello (324) and Hall of Famer Lenny Wilkens (310). In the Playoffs, he piloted the Hawks to back-to-back Game Seven wins in the first round over Miami in 2009 and Milwaukee in 2010.

Before joining the Hawks, Woodson served for one season (2003-04) as an assistant coach with the Detroit Pistons, where he earned an NBA Championship ring as one of the chief architects behind Detroit's suffocating defense that helped lift the Pistons to the 2004 NBA title.

Prior to his six years at the helm of the Hawks, Woodson logged eight seasons as an assistant coach with Milwaukee (1996-97 through 1998-99), Cleveland (1999-2000 through 2000-01), Philadelphia (2001-02 through 2002-03) and Detroit (2003-04).

Woodson enjoyed an 11-year NBA playing career, averaging 14.0 points over 786 games for the Knicks (1980-81), New Jersey (1981-82), Kansas City/Sacramento (1981-82 through 1985-86), the LA Clippers (1986-87 through 1987-88), Houston (1988-89 through 1990-91) and Cleveland (1990-91). He scored a career-high 18.2 ppg with Kansas City in 1982-83, and posted 18.0 ppg with the Clippers in 1987-88. Mike also averaged 12.2 points in 13 career Playoff games over five post-seasons.

Mike's NBA playing career began in 1980-81, when he averaged 4.7 points over 11.7 minutes in 81 contests with the Knicks. In his first and only season in New York, he helped the Knicks to a 50-win season and a Playoff berth under Red Holzman. As New York's first-round pick (12th overall) in the 1980 NBA Draft, he graced the cover of the Knicks' 1980-81 media guide along with Holzman and teammates Bill Cartwright and Micheal Ray Richardson.

Prior to being drafted by New York, Woodson had a standout four-year career at Indiana University under Bob Knight where he was a two-time All-American, averaging 19.8 points in 104 career games with the Hoosiers. Woodson led IU to the 1979 NIT Championship and overcame back surgery in 1980 to earn Big Ten Most Valuable Player honors in leading the Hoosiers to the 1980 Big Ten title.

HEAD COACH

Knight's influence proved to be a main factor in Woodson's coaching career.

"Bob Knight, I think, somewhat set the table for me," says Mike. "I didn't know if I really wanted to coach, but then I watched my high school coach, Bill Smith [currently a member of Woody's staff in New York], along with Knight, and they were the coaches who prepared me for working with the pros. They were always prepared, prepared for practice and prepared for whenever they stepped on the court for a game. That kind of lingers in the back of your mind for many years. When I decided to start coaching, that Bill Smith and Bob Knight experience entered my mind."

Born on Mar. 24, 1958 in Indianapolis, Woodson attended Broad Ripple HS, whose alumni include David Letterman. Broad Ripple retired Mike's uniform number in 2006. Mike and his wife Terri have two daughters, Alexis (23) and Mariah (22), both graduates of Georgia Tech (Alexis in December 2012, Mariah in May 2013). The Woodson family makes its off-season home in Atlanta.

JIM TODD

ASSISTANT COACH

Jim Todd is in his third campaign - his second full season - on the Knicks' bench, bringing nearly four decades of coaching experience to the world's greatest basketball city.

"Last year's season was one of the best years we've had with the Knicks in recent years, to win 54 games and the Atlantic Division," says Todd, who is in his 15th season as a NBA coach. "I think 54 wins is the most of any team I've been associated with. It was a pretty exciting season."

Formally named to Mike Woodson's staff on March 17, 2012, Todd started the 2011-12 season as an assistant coach for the Sacramento Kings under Keith Smart. When he joined the Knicks in mid-season, it marked the third team in which he'd joined Woodson, as they also coached together in Milwaukee and Atlanta.

"He's loyal," says Woodson of Todd. "He and I came in together way back in the day and we've remained friends all these years. We've traveled different paths but he's been loyal, he's still loyal and he works his butt off. He's coached for a number of coaches, as well. He was a head coach for a period of time and got to see what it was like. Loyalty and hard work are what he brings to the table and that's why he's with me."

JT broke into the NBA as an assistant under Chris Ford in Milwaukee in 1996. Todd's initial two-year stint in Milwaukee (1996-97 through 1997-98) proved to be the first of three separate tenures with the Bucks, as he was also a Bucks assistant from 2002-03 through 2003-04 (under George Karl and Terry Porter) and again in 2007-08 (under Larry Krystowiak).

Todd went with Ford to the Los Angeles Clippers as an assistant coach for two seasons (1998-99 through 1999-2000). On Feb. 3, 2000, he succeeded Ford as Clippers head coach for the remainder of the season (4-33), earning his first NBA head coaching victory with a 78-77 triumph over Atlanta on Feb. 26, 2000.

Todd served for three seasons on Sam Mitchell's staff at Toronto (2004-05 through 2006-07). Following the 2007-08 season in Milwaukee, he again teamed with Woodson on Mike's Atlanta staff from 2008-09 through 2009-10.

Including the Knicks' march to the 2013 Atlantic Division title, Todd's teams have reached the NBA Playoffs in seven of his 14 seasons in the League.

"Everywhere you go, especially in the winter, people are talking about the Knicks," says Todd. "You get in a cab, and the cab driver starts talking about the Knicks, and he doesn't even how that you're affiliated with them. The excitement was there (last year), the expectations got higher and higher as the season rolled along. And I think Woody and the staff and management wanted those expectations. We reached some pretty lofty goals, and our goals for the future and for this coming year are to win a championship."

In 2010-11, Todd coached professionally in China and was an assistant coach for the Canadian men's national basketball team at the 2010 FIBA World Championship Games in Turkey. Following his initial NBA stint with Milwaukee and the Clippers, he served for one season (2001-02) as an assistant coach at DePaul.

Todd has been involved in coaching at the high school, college and pro level since 1976. Jim's coaching career began in 1976, when he led Notre Dame (MA) HS to a 26-2 record and the state title. From 1977-86, he worked as a head coach at Fitchburg State, as an assistant coach at Columbia University and Marist College (where he worked with future NBA star Rik Smits), and as the lead assistant at Manhattan College.

Todd was head coach at Salem State from 1987-96, recording a 192-57 (.771) mark and leading the school to eight NCAA Division III tournament appearances. He was named NCAA New England Coach of the Year in 1990. Todd also coached Salem State's golf team to three NCAA appearances.

A native of Billerica, MA, Jim earned a master's degree in education from Fitchburg State (his alma mater) in 1976. He is a member of both the Salem State and Fitchburg State Halls of Fame as well as the New England Basketball Hall of Fame. Jim and his wife Gail live in Westford, MA.

DARRELL WALKER

ASSISTANT COACH

Darrell Walker's Big Apple odyssey began as a Knicks rookie 30 years ago. Currently in his 14th season as an NBA coach, Walker returned to the Knickerbockers when he was named an assistant on Mike Woodson's staff on Mar. 17, 2012, and he is now in his third season (second full campaign) on the Knicks bench.

And for all the thrills he has enjoyed with the Knicks - both as player and coach - the best might be yet to come.

"Coming back to New York was great, and it got even better," says Walker, 52. "We had a good run last year. Everyone's talking about the other teams getting better, which they have. But we've gotten better, too. It's been great to walk into the Garden every night and see some of the same people as fans, and some of the same people who are still working there. It's not the same Garden, but it's still The Garden. It's a special place and will always be a special place."

Walker returned to the Knicks midway through the 2011-12 season after serving for three seasons (2008-09 through 2010-11) as an assistant coach with the Detroit Pistons.

Walker began his coaching career as an assistant coach on the inaugural Toronto Raptors squad of 1995-96. The following year, he succeeded Brendan Malone as Raptors head coach and piloted Toronto for two seasons (1996-97 through Feb. 13, 1998).

In 1999-2000, Walker authored a unique "hat trick" when he piloted three teams in three leagues. He began the season as head coach of the CBA's Rockford Lightning. On Jan. 29, 2000, he was named interim head coach of the Washington Wizards and led the Wizards for the remainder of the season. Then on Jul. 14, 2000, he was named interim head coach for the WNBA's Washington Mystics and guided the club to its first Playoff berth.

Walker remained in Washington for four additional seasons with the Wizards; as director of player personnel (2000-01) and as a scout (2001-02 through 2003-04). He then served for four seasons (2004-05 through 2007-08) as an assistant with the New Orleans/Oklahoma City Hornets, prior to his three-year stint in Detroit. He owns a career NBA head coaching record of 56-113 (.331) over three seasons. Darrell also coached the Rookie squad in the T-Mobile Rookie Challenge at NBA All-Star 2008 in New Orleans.

"I've known Darrell a long time, from our playing days," says Woodson. "He brings leadership, he brings knowledge in terms of being able to teach the game of basketball. I feel good about all my staff because they all can teach and that's what it's all about. You want them to feel like they're head coaches when they're out there working and doing their thing in terms of being on the court or in the classroom. Darrell's leadership and ability to teach the game has meant a great deal to me."

Last year, Walker earned a unique spot in Knicks history as he became part of the only two teams in franchise annals to produce an NBA scoring leader. He was a teammate of Bernard King when King led the League with 32.9 points in 1984-85 (Darrell was present at King's Hall of Fame induction in September 2013); then coached Carmelo Anthony as Melo paced the NBA with 28.7 points in 2012-13 en route to leading the Knicks to the Atlantic Division title.

"We have to continue to build on what we did last year," says Walker. "It was a good learning experience for us, and I'm excited about this year. I think Metta World Peace brings some needed toughness to our team. I think Andrea Bargnani brings us another dimension in that he'll really be able to stretch the defense. Iman Shumpert and Tim Hardaway are young kids who are going play. We've got a versatile team."

Walker's distinguished 10-year NBA playing career began when he was drafted by the Knicks in the first round (12th overall) in the 1983 NBA Draft. He played his first three NBA seasons in New York, earning NBA All-Rookie Honors in 1983-84. As a rookie, he averaged 7.9 points off the bench and played a key role as the Knicks defeated Detroit in five memorable games in the first Playoff round in '84 and then extended the eventual champion Boston Celtics to seven games in the East Semis. His 15 steals in the first round against the Pistons (including a club Playoff record seven in Game One) are still a Knicks Playoff mark for a five-game series. Darrell scored a career-high 13.5 points with the Knicks in 1984-85.

Walked also played with Denver (1986-87), Washington (1987-88 through 1990-91) and Detroit (1991-92 through 1992-93). Signed as a free agent by Chicago on Jan. 28, 1993, he ended his playing career as a member of the 1992-93 NBA Champion Bulls, alongside former Knick teammates Bill Cartwright and Trent Tucker.

Darrell averaged 8.9 points and 4.6 assists over 720 games (356 starts) in 10 NBA seasons. With the Bullets in 1989-90, he ranked 10th in the NBA with a career-high 8.1 assists. During his playing career, he played for four future Hall of Famers: Hubie Brown, Wes Unseld, Chuck Daly and Phil Jackson. After his retirement, Darrell served as a field rep for the National Basketball Players Association from 1993 through 1995.

Walker enjoyed a standout three-year career at the University of Arkansas, averaging 14.7 points after transferring from Westark (AR) JC following his freshman season. He was honored twice as Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Year, and was named Second-Team AP All-American as a senior in 1982-83. HERB WILLIAMS

Herb Williams is so engrained in the history of the Knickerbockers that last year's run to the Atlantic Division Championship came with a distinct feeling of déjà vu. Williams, who now owns the longest tenure of any on-the-bench assistant coach in franchise history, was a player on the last Knicks squad to win the Atlantic, back in 1993-94.

"Last year was very positive for us," says Herb, the senior coach on the Knicks staff. "I thought we had a chance to do a lot of damage. We had players in and out of the lineup, but that's the first Knicks team in a long time that I really felt had a chance to make a push and play for a title. It was a very, very positive experience and I thought Coach Woodson did a hell of a job as far as putting pieces together and adding new players and keeping it all together."

No chapter in the history of Knicks Basketball - its past, present, or future - is complete without Williams. One of the game's most respected figures, Herb is currently in his 12th full season (13th season overall) as a Knicks coach.

Williams joined the Knicks' staff as an assistant coach on Dec. 29, 2001, and few figures are as synonymous with the team - as player and coach - as he. As a Knicks assistant coach, Williams has served under head coaches Don Chaney, Lenny Wilkens, Larry Brown, Isiah Thomas, Mike D'Antoni and now Mike Woodson.

"He's pretty special because to be able to be in this organization as long as he's been here and being able to work under many coaches and also to have had a shot at head-coaching at one time; he's probably forgotten more basketball than most of the guys who come into this league," says Woodson. "I'm happy that he's a part of our staff because he brings a bunch of knowledge and hard work, and he's able to teach the game on the floor. That's what it takes when you're talking about putting a staff together."

Included in Williams' coaching tenure is an overall mark of 17-27 as Knicks head coach. Succeeding Lenny Wilkens as Knicks headmaster on Jan. 22, 2005, Herb piloted New York for the remainder of the 2004-05 season, going 16-27. He also notched a 120-110 win over Orlando as interim coach on Jan. 14, 2004, prior to Wilkens' formal arrival. In addition, Herb assumed the reins of the Knicks for the final five games of the 2005-06 season, during Brown's illness.

During his playing tenure, Williams was a force in New York's locker room as a leader both on and off the court. For three seasons (1996-97 through 1998-99), he served as Knicks tri-captain. His knowledge and leadership qualities made him a natural for his post-playing career.

"Last year was something to build on, knowing that we have the nucleus of a good team," says Williams, 55. "Then we added a couple of good pieces with Andrea Bargnani and Metta World Peace. We added some respected players from around the League. And one thing we're not doing is sitting back and saying, 'OK, we made a good run last year so we'll keep it this way.' We're constantly trying to get better, and that's what you've got to love about the Knicks."

As a player, Herb became a Garden fan favorite as Hall of Famer Patrick Ewing's primary backup in the pivot as well as a guiding force off the court. His final on-court appearance - a scoreless minute in Game Five of The 1999 NBA Finals against San Antonio - made him the oldest Knick ever to appear in a game (41 years, four months, nine days). Herb, Jason Kidd and Kurt Thomas (both of whom accomplished the feat in 2012-13) are the only Knicks in franchise history to appear in a game past their 40th birthdays.

Williams' longtime identification with the Knicks was formally cited on Feb. 20, 2012, when he received the "Dick McGuire Knicks Legacy Award," given annually to an individual whose contributions both on and off the court mirror those of the late, beloved Hall of Famer. He joined previous winners McGuire, Cal Ramsey and Mike Saunders, and 2013 winner John Andariese.

"You're talking about one of the toughest players ever to play the game," says Williams of McGuire. "That's what our team in the '90s tried to stand for; our toughness, our pride in the city. We tried to carry New York on our backs, and when you look at all that, you're going to see Dick McGuire's face. So for me to receive that award was so gratifying. It means everything. You talk Knicks and you're talking Frazier and Willis and Ewing, and Dick McGuire."

Williams' coaching tenure follows a distinguished playing career that spanned 18 seasons (1981-82 through 1998-99), just three shy of the all-time NBA record of 21 shared by Robert Parish and Kevin Willis. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, Herb is one of only nine players in NBA history to appear in a game following his 41st birthday, along with Parish, Willis, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Bob Cousy, Nat Hickey, Charles Jones, John Stockton and Dikembe Mutombo.

Indiana's first-round pick (14th overall) in the 1981 NBA Draft, the 6-foot-11 Williams averaged 10.8 points, 5.9 rebounds and shot .467 from the field for the Pacers, Mavericks, Raptors and Knicks. He scored 11,944 points in 1,102 career games. Herb played the first 7½ seasons of his career with Indiana, and is third in blocked shots (1,094; behind only Jermaine O'Neal and Rik Smits), seventh in games played (577), seventh in total minutes (18,455) and eighth in total rebounds (4,494) on the Pacers' all-time franchise lists.

Williams spent virtually all of the final seven years of his playing career as a Knick, and was one of only two players (along with Ewing) to be a member of both of the Knicks' Eastern Conference Championship teams of 1994 and 1999. He originally signed with the Knicks as a free agent on Nov. 15, 1992. Williams was part of two separate trades (to Toronto on Feb. 18, 1996 and to Philadelphia on Feb. 19, 1998), but quickly returned to the Big Apple just days after both.

Williams averaged 17.6 points and 9.7 rebounds in a four-year college career at Ohio State, and became the first Buckeye in school history to record more than 2,000 career points (2,011).

Born on Feb. 16, 1958 in Columbus, OH, Williams was a recreation major at Ohio State. Herb's daughter Erica (27) is a 2008 graduate of George Washington University; his son Jabrille (21) is attending Binghamton University in upstate NY and is a member of the school's basketball team. Herb and Maria are parents of 2-year old twins Jacob and Jayda. Herb lives in Stamford, CT. Off the court, Herb is extremely involved in the community, spending countless hours with area youth, as well as distinguishing himself as one of the Knicks' most accomplished golfers.

DEAR FRIENDS

It is with great pleasure that we share a summary of the Community Relations and Fan Development initiatives completed by the New York Knicks throughout the 2012-13 season. Without the support of you, the fans, none of these initiatives would have been possible. So thank you for your continued support and commitment to the Knicks and our efforts in the community!

NEW YORK KNICKS

MISSION STATEMENT

The Knicks organization is committed to building programs of excellence that give back to the community and enhance the game of basketball. In partnership with the Garden of Dreams Foundation, the Knicks continue to make dreams come true for children facing obstacles. Knicks players, coaches, alumni, dancers and staff actively play a role in our goal of giving back to the community.

DREAM NIGHTS

The Knicks and Garden of Dreams teamed up for "Dream Nights" where children and families were treated to unforgettable evenings at Madison Square Garden. The experiences began courtside on the team bench watching the Knicks exclusive pregame warm-ups and also included an opportunity to meet current Knicks players and Alumni. Children and families were then given special VIP gift bags and escorted to catered suites to watch a Knicks game.

KNICKS BOWL 14

Knicks players, special guests and fans bowled for a cause at Knicks Bowl 14, which took place at 300 New York at Chelsea Piers. The fun filled, celebrity studded event gave the team's loyal supporters the opportunity to bowl with their favorite athletes while raising money for the Garden of Dreams Foundation. Since 2000, the Knicks have raised more than $2.3 million through their annual Knicks Bowl event!

KNICKS POETRY SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Knicks Poetry Slam Program, which was created in 2003, uses the popularity of hip-hop and poetry as a vehicle to motivate and inspire expression through written and spoken word. With the growth of the program, the Knicks and program partner Urban Word NYC have provided greater opportunities for high school students to use their poetic skills and talents to pursue higher education.

The Knicks Poetry Scholars Program enchances the lives of many students who are a part of the Urban Word NYC non-profit organization. Through various workshops and boot camp sessions, Urban Word provides guidance for the college application process. During the 2012-13 season, six special high school students were awarded full four-year scholarships: two to St. John's University, one to Adelphi University, Mercy College, Syracuse University and the University of Wisconsin. In order to apply for the full scholarship, each applicant had to complete an extensive application process which included applying to their university of choice, writing a capitivating essay entitled "Reason I Write" as well as submitting their resume and portfolio of poems. More than 100 students applied, but only six were chosen.

On April 17th, the six winners were awarded and recognized on court at Madison Square Garden in front of a sold-out crowd. Each winner was accompanied by their university representative and members of Urban Word NYC.

SWEETWATER CLIFTON CITY SPIRIT AWARD

RINGTHEBELL on Archive.org

Each month during the 2012-13 regular season, the New York Knicks honored local heroes with the Sweetwater Clifton City Spirit Award. Named after Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton, the first African-American to play for the Knicks, the award recognizes those who have made a significant difference in the lives of others. Winners are honored on center court during a Knicks home game and receive a $2,000 donation to a charity of their choice. A total of 12 individuals were honored this season including local heroes who risked their lives to save others during Superstorm Sandy. This year marked the 8th year that the Knicks have honored unsung heroes.

DAVE DEBUSSCHERE AWARD

On April 5th, 2013 the New York Knicks recognized Jennifer Quashie (age 18) of the High School for Law, Advocacy and Community Justice on the Upper West Side of Manhattan and Josh Taylor (age 18) of Poughkeepsie High School in Poughkeepsie, NY, as the recipients of the Dave DeBusschere Award for the 2012-13 season. Both students excelled in the classroom as well as on the basketball court, and exemplified the same heroic characteristics that Knicks Legend Dave DeBusschere carried throughout his life.

KNICKS SUMMER BASKETBALL CAMP

The summer of 2012 marked the 21st anniversary of the New York Knicks Summer Basketball Camp presented by Powerade and Under Armour. The summer of 2012 focused on improving campers' skills while emphasizing offense, defense, shooting and game fundamentals. It featured Knicks Players Jason Kidd, Iman Shumpert, Steve Novak; Knicks Legends such Walt 'Clyde' Frazier, Larry Johnson, John Starks, Allan Houston, Herb Williams, Charles Smith, Greg Anthony; and Knicks Coaches Dave Hopla and Jim Todd. With locations in Westchester, New Jersey, Manhattan and the Hamptons on Long Island, the Knicks were able to deliver youth basketball to over 1,000 players in the tri-state area.

KNICKS BASKETBALL CLINICS

During the 2012-13 season, the Knicks conducted over 25 basketball clinics for fans to participate in and learn the concepts and fundamentals of Knicks basketball at borough playgrounds, local basketball courts, YMCA's and NYC Parks & Recreation Centers. The clinics focused on helping athletes improve their skills and develop their overall basketball game by teaching basic practice drills and emphasizing the fundamentals. The clinics incorporated a healthy lifestyle component to teach and expose children to the importance of eating healthy and taking care of your overall health.

The New York Knickerbockers marked their 67th season as a charter member of the NBA with a 54-28 (,659) regular season mark, winning the Atlantic Division Championship and nailing down the second seed (behind defending NBA Champion Miami) in the Eastern Conference for the 2013 NBA Playoffs.*

The Playoffs

vs. Boston (4-2): Knicks had a six-game first-round triumph over Boston, capped with an 88-80 Game Six win at Boston's TD Garden on May 3...It was their seventh all-time Playoff series win over Boston (against eight losses) and their first series win over their oldest rivals since the unforgettable five-game first round win in 1990, capped with the legendary 121-114 Game Five win at Boston Garden on May 6, 1990.

vs. Indiana (2-4): Knicks lost in six games to the Indiana Pacers...It marked the seventh all-time Playoff series between the Knicks and Pacers, and the first since Indiana defeated New York in the 2000 East Finals...In the teams' longstanding Playoff rivalry that began in 1993, Pacers have won four series, Knicks three.

Melo For The Books: Carmelo Anthony averaged 28.8 ppg for the 2013 Playoffs, recording the third-highest scoring average in Knicks team history for a Playoff season...Finished second in scoring to OKC's Kevin Durant (30.8) on the 2013 NBA Playoff leader board...In the Indiana series, established a Knicks club record for most FGM in a six-game series (65)...In the Boston series, his 175 points were a Knicks Playoff record for a six-game series...Against the Celtics, he also established Knicks six-game series marks for FGA (160), FTM (44) and FTA (49)...En route to 36 points in Game Four against Boston, Carmelo went 10-35 FGA and 16-20 FTA; his 35 FGA tied Bernard King's single-game club Playoff record (1984 vs. Detroit), and his 20 FTA set a new club single-game Playoff mark.

The Regular Season

Sailing The Atlantic: Knicks won their fifth Atlantic Division Championship, their first since 1993-94...Since the NBA went to a four-division setup in 1970-71 (six divisions in 2004-05), the Knicks have won the Atlantic in 1970-71 (Red Holzman), 1988-89 (Rick Pitino), 1992-93 (Pat Riley), 1993-94 (Riley) and 2012-13 (Mike Woodson)...In 1991-92, their first season under Riley, Knicks finished in a first-place tie in the Atlantic (51-31), but Boston won the division title via tiebreaker...Knicks mathematically clinched the Atlantic title on Apr. 9, beating Washington 120-99 at the Garden (game No. 77), in the final game of their season-high 13-game winning streak.

The Start: Knicks got the season started in blazing fashion by winning their first six games, falling just one game shy of their best season start without a loss (7-0 start in 1993-94).

Woody: Knicks have gone 72-34 (.679) since Mike Woodson's appointment as interim head coach on Mar. 14, 2012...Woodson's .679 winning percentage as Knicks head coach is the second-best in club annals, trailing only Pat Riley (.680 on 223-105)...Woodson was named NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month for April, the first Knicks coach to be named COTM since Pat Riley in March 1994...Following his 100th game as Knicks head coach (Apr. 7 at OKC; won 125-120), Woodson's record stood at 68-32, the best winning percentage (.680) for any coach in Knicks history after his first 100 games.

THE KNICKERBOCKERS STORY

Ned Irish: The Founding Father

THE CITY'S TEAM. THE CITY GAME. Nearly seven decades of heroes and heroics. That's the legacy and tradition of the New York Knickerbockers, a charter member of the National Basketball Association and one of the benchmark franchises of American sports.

It is a history that includes six of the 50 Greatest Players in NBA History – Patrick Ewing, Willis Reed, Walt Frazier, Dave DeBusschere, Earl Monroe and Jerry Lucas...a tradition that embraces four of the 10 Greatest Coaches in League history, led by the legendary Red Holzman...a legacy written across eight trips to the NBA Finals and two World Championships, with the fabled 1970 team cited as one of the 10 Greatest Teams in League annals.

THE BEGINNING

It all began on Jun. 6, 1946, when Madison Square Garden was granted a charter franchise in the newly-formed Basketball Association of America. The legendary Ned Irish, who would eventually be enshrined in the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, was the Knicks' founding father and one of the infant circuit's pioneers.

The newly-christened Knickerbockers debuted on Nov. 1, 1946, edging the Toronto Huskies, 68-66 at famed Maple Leaf Gardens. Former Manhattan College mentor Neil Cohalan was the Knicks' first head coach, while Ossie Schectman, Stan Stutz, Jake Weber, Ralph Kaplowitz and Leo Gottlieb made up the inaugural starting lineup.

The Knicks made three consecutive trips to the NBA Finals, in 1951, 1952 and 1953. But they would be denied the summit all three times: first by Rochester, and then by the dynastic Minneapolis Lakers in 1952 and 1953.

Carl Braun was the club's premier scorer during those early days, averaging 14.1 points over a career that spanned 12 seasons and five All-Star selections. Braun's teammates included Harry Gallatin, the ferocious rebounder who still holds the club record of 610 consecutive games played; the great Dick McGuire, who set a playmaking standard by leading the club in assists for seven straight seasons (1950-56), popular Ernie Vandeweghe and pioneer pro Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton. The greatness of the early Knicks has been certified with the enshrinements of Gallatin and McGuire into the Hall of Fame, joining Lapchick and Irish.

LEAN YEARS

New York made the playoffs only once in a 10-year span from the late '50s into the '60s, a period in which Iona's Richie Guerin earned a permanent place in Knicks lore - and, in 2013, long-overdue election to the Basketball Hall of Fame - with his sensational scoring and hard-nosed play. A six-time All-Star with New York, Guerin was the first Knick to score 50 points in a game when he poured in 57 on Dec. 11, 1959 against Syracuse, just one of 13 40-point performances during his career. Willie Naulls, Ray Felix, Jumpin' Johnny Green and Ken Sears were also major Knick heroes in those days.

The head coaching assignments during that era were handled by Vince Boryla, Fuzzy Levane, Braun, Eddie Donovan, Gallatin and McGuire.

THIS NEARLY WAS MINE

New York was playoff-bound in each of its first 10 seasons, nine of those under the leadership of Joe Lapchick, the coaching genius whose 326 career wins helped him carve a niche in the Hall of Fame.

TAKE IT ALL!

Following a decade in the doldrums, the Knicks franchise would ultimately reach its zenith under William "Red" Holzman, the Hall of Fame coach who took over the reins in late 1967, just prior to the team's move from the venerable Old Garden on 49th Street to the gleaming New Garden above Penn Station. As Holzman assumed the helm, the team's "Golden Era" - which would include four 50+-win seasons, three Eastern Conference Championships and, of course, two NBA titles - was launched.

The Knicks climbed to basketball's pinnacle in 1969-70, riding a club record 18-game winning streak and a 60-22 regular season mark to the team's first NBA World Championship. Captain Willis Reed, the League's MVP, will forever be remembered for stepping onto the Garden court in spite of his severely injured leg, to the deafening roar of a capacity crowd... the impetus for a stirring and decisive seventh game triumph in the Finals against the Los Angeles Lakers. With Reed scoring the Knicks' first two baskets and Walt Frazier adding 36 points and 19 assists, New York nailed down its first NBA title with a 113-99 Game Seven win, forever stamping May 8, 1970 as the ultimate red-letter day in team history.

Along with Reed's contributions, the unprecedented success was keyed by fabled teammates such as Frazier, Bill Bradley, Dave DeBusschere and Dick Barnett, along with "Minutemen" Mike Riordan, Cazzie Russell and Dave Stallworth. Smart drafting and shrewd trades by Holzman and general manager Eddie Donovan - especially the fabled December 1968 acquisition of DeBusschere from Detroit - laid the foundation for success.

Holzman's club led the NBA in team defense five times over a six-year span from 1968-69 to 1973-74. The team captured the citizenry of the world's greatest basketball city, selling out the New Garden 26 times in 1969-70 after recording just six regular season sellouts in 22 seasons at the Old Garden.

Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, a Knicks nemesis during his days with the Baltimore Bullets, joined the Knicks in 1971-72 and teamed with Frazier to form one of the greatest backcourts in NBA history. Also acquired to shore up the front line was perennial All-Star Jerry Lucas.

In 1971-72, despite the season-long absence of Reed due to injury, the Knicks won the Eastern Conference title with Playoff wins over Baltimore and Boston. In 1972-73, Reed returned and a veteran Knick squad gutted its way to its second NBA Championship. They outlasted Boston in a classic Eastern Final series and then beat the Lakers in the Finals, becoming the first team in NBA history to defeat two 60-win teams en route to a title.

In tribute to the championship heroes, the retired numbers of Reed, Bradley, Frazier, Barnett, DeBusschere and Monroe hang from the Garden rafters. Reed, Bradley, Frazier, DeBusschere, Monroe and Lucas have all joined Holzman in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

SLUMP, THEN SURGE

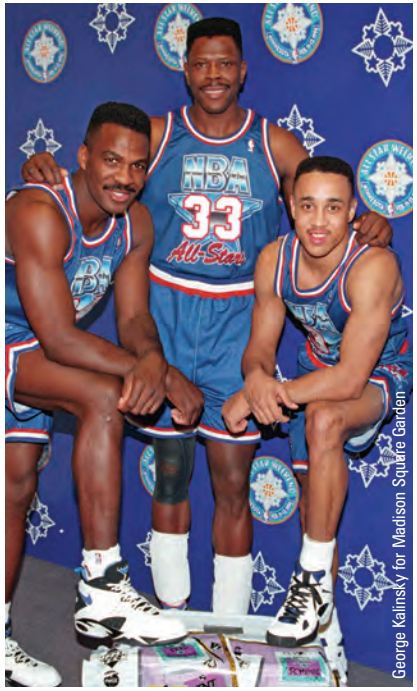
New York was a playoff force for nine straight seasons (1966-67 through 1974-75). But then a period of lean times befell the club as the '80s dawned, despite headline performances by Spencer Haywood, Ray Williams, Michael Ray Richardson and future Hall of Famer Bob McAdoo. Holzman and Reed presided as coach as the Knicks made the Playoffs only twice in a seven-year span from 1976 to 1982

Two dynamic and unforgettable personalities - both future Hall of Famers - played the central roles as the Knicks' fortunes turned in the early '80s...Head Coach Hubie Brown and scorer extraordinaire Bernard King. In 1984, Brown guided the Knicks to a memorable first-round playoff victory over Detroit. King developed into perhaps the greatest offensive force in club history, leading the NBA in scoring with a 32.9 average in 1984-85, becoming the Knicks' only League-leading scorer over the franchise's first 66 years.

JACKPOT!

On Mother's Day 1985, the Knicks won the rights to Georgetown superstar Patrick Ewing in the first-ever NBA Lottery. It would prove to be a major turning point in the club's history. Ewing authored 15 memorable years in New York, becoming an 11-time All-Star, the all-time club leader in virtually every category and arguably the greatest player to ever wear the orange and blue, a headline performer whose No. 33 would be hoisted to the Garden rafters in 2003. But a crippling 1985 knee injury to King set off a three-year dry spell in which the Knicks would win only 24, 23 and 24 games, missing the Playoffs all three years as Garden attendance plummeted.

But a decade-plus period in which the Knicks would again reign as one of the game's elite began in 1987-88. Under General Manager Al Bianchi and Hall of Fame-bound Head Coach Rick Pitino and buoyed by Rookie of the Year Mark Jackson, the Knicks gained a playoff spot in the season's final game. The next year, with newly-acquired Charles Oakley and Kiki Vandeweghe on board, the Knicks won 52 games (including 26 straight at home) and the Atlantic Division title. In 1989-90, behind an MVP-caliber season by Ewing, the Knicks rose from an 0-2 hole and defeated the arch-rival Celtics in the first playoff round with an emotional Game Five triumph at Boston Garden.



All-Stars Oakley, Ewing and Starks

IT'S ALL ABOUT SOUL

Club president Dave Checketts - named on Mar. 1, 1991 - and eventual President and General Manager Ernie Grunfeld then guided the Knicks into an unforgettable era by hiring future Hall of Fame coach Pat Riley and adding the likes of Xavier McDaniel, Rolando Blackman, Anthony Mason, Doc Rivers, Charles Smith and Derek Harper. The Riley Era - 1991-92 through 1994-95 - resulted in an unprecedented four consecutive 50+ win seasons, two Atlantic Division titles, two trips to the Eastern Conference Finals, and a series of electrifying Playoff runs that captivated the entire nation.

In 1992-93, the Knicks rewrote the club record book with a franchise-record-tying 60 wins, a club record 37 home victories and, ultimately, their first appearance in the Eastern Conference Finals in nearly two decades.

Then, keyed by one of the greatest defensive units in NBA history (91.5 points allowed) and All-Star seasons from Ewing, Oakley and John Starks, the 1993-94 Knicks ended the three-year championship reign of the Chicago Bulls with an emotional playoff triumph, then bested Indiana to earn their first Eastern Conference Championship in 21 years, only to be denied the ultimate prize in a seven-game nail-biter NBA Finals series against Houston. A 55-win season in 1994-95 and a heartbreaking seven-game Playoff loss to Indiana were followed soon after by Riley's resignation as head coach.

As a final, fitting postscript to the Riley Era, both Ewing and Riley earned first-ballot election to the Basketball Hall of Fame with the Class of 2008.

JEFF'S TIME

After seven years as an assistant coach, youthful Jeff Van Gundy succeeded future Hall-of-Famer Don Nelson as head coach on Mar. 8, 1996. Following the 1995-96 season, Grunfeld engineered an extensive off-season facelift that put Larry Johnson, Allan Houston, Chris Childs and Buck Williams in Knicks uniforms. The results were a 57-win season in 1996-97, followed by an emotional first-round Playoff triumph over Miami in 1997-98, a season marred by a wrist fracture suffered by Ewing that sidelined the All-Star center for the final two-thirds of the regular season.

Electrifying Latrell Sprewell and youthful Marcus Camby came aboard in 1998-99 to help write one of the most memorable chapters in the club's storied history. Following a 27-23 regular season, the Knicks stormed from the East's eighth seed to win the Eastern Conference title with thrilling

The Big Fella was a member of two NBA Finals teams.

Playoff triumphs over arch-rivals Miami and Indiana and a decisive four-game sweep of Atlanta, before the ultimate heartbreak of a five-game Finals loss to San Antonio.

In 2000, the Knicks made their second straight march to the East Finals, highlighted by their third straight Playoff triumph over Miami, as Ewing concluded his 15-year, Hall of Fame Knick career. Van Gundy, meanwhile, would ultimately log 248 career wins to become the third-winningest coach in franchise history, behind only the storied duo of Holzman and Lapchick.

THE KNICKS ARE BACK...

Following the end of both the Knicks' string of 14 consecutive Playoff appearances and their decade-long streak of 433 home sellouts, Hall-of-Famer Isiah Thomas was appointed president, basketball operations on Dec. 22, 2003. Over the next five seasons, Hall-of-Famers Lenny Wilkens, Larry Brown and ultimately Thomas would coach the Knicks, with Wilkens leading New York to a Playoff berth in 2004.

The Knicks' journey back toward elite status began in the spring of 2008, with the naming of New York native Donnie Walsh as president, basketball operations and the hiring of Mike D'Antoni as head coach. In 2008-09, D'Antoni engineered a nine-game improvement in the win column. The following year, David Lee became the Knicks' first NBA All-Star since 2001, Nate Robinson capped a span in which he won three NBA Slam Dunk Championships, and Italian import Danilo Gallinari emerged as one of the game's deadliest three-point threats.

Meanwhile, Walsh presided over an extensive roster makeover climaxed by an eight-month period over 2010-11 in which the Knicks acquired perennial All-Stars Amar'e Stoudemire from Phoenix and Carmelo Anthony from Denver. In 2010-11, the Knicks marched to their first winning record in a decade and their first Playoff berth since 2004.

The Knicks' rebirth continued in 2011-12 with the promotion of Glen Grunwald to the general manager's chair, his acquisition of eventual 2012 NBA Defensive Player of the Year Tyson Chandler, and the Mar. 14 naming of Mike Woodson as head coach. In a season highlighted by an 18-6 record under Woodson, an All-Star performance by Anthony and the mid-season heroics of unheralded free agent signee Jeremy Lin, the Knicks nailed down their second straight NBA Playoff berth.

And then in 2012-13, the Knicks electrified the world's greatest basketball city by winning 54 games - including 13 straight late in the season - en route to their first Atlantic Division title in nearly two decades. Anthony led the NBA with a 28.7 scoring average, joining newly-minted Hall of Famer Bernard King as the only Knicks ever to pace the League in scoring. J.R. Smith was named the League's Sixth Man of the Year, while Chandler earned NBA All-Star honors. In the Playoffs, the Knicks defeated the arch-rival Celtics to advance to the East Semis for the first time since 2000 while extending their home sellout streak to 115...all of which gave a stunning validity to Stoudemire's original 2010 promise that, "The Knicks are back!"

Now, with renewed spirit, Playoff experience and the acquisitions of veterans Andrea Bargnani and Metta World Peace - and with the spectacular Garden Transformation now complete - New York's Team faces the 2010s with the promise of even greater heights.

WHAT IS A KNICKERBOCKER?

The Name…

The term "Knickerbockers" traces its origin to the Dutch settlers who came to the New World - and especially to what is now New York - in the 1600s. Specifically, it refers to the style of pants the settlers wore...pants that rolled up just below the knee, which became known as "Knickerbockers", or "knickers".

In 1809, legendary author Washington Irving solidified the knickerbocker name in New York lore when he wrote the satiric A History of New York from the Beginning of the World to the End of the Dutch Dynasty under the pseudonym Diedrich Knickerbocker. Later known as Knickerbocker's History of New York, Irving's book introduced the word "knickerbocker" to signify a New Yorker who could trace his or her ancestry to the original Dutch settlers.

With the publication of Irving's book, the Dutch settler "Knickerbocker" character became synonymous with New York City. The city's most popular symbol of the late 19th and early 20th centuries was "Father Knickerbocker", complete with cotton wig, three-cornered hat, buckled shoes, and, of course, knickered pants.

At the same time, the term "Knickerbocker" became indelibly linked to anything and everything New York...from Jacob Ruppert's Knickerbocker Beer to the 1938 Broadway musical Knickerbocker Holiday (which starred Walter Huston and featured the haunting "September Song") to famed society gossip columnists Cholly Knickerbocker (the nom de plume used by Maury Paul and Igor Cassini) and Suzy Knickerbocker (Aileen Mehle).

The Knickerbocker name had its first use in the sports world in 1845, when Alexander Cartwright's Manhattan-based baseball team — the first organized team in baseball history — was named the "New York Knickerbockers" or the "Knickerbocker Nine." The Knickerbocker name stayed with the team even after it moved its base of operations to Elysian Fields at Hoboken, NJ in 1846. (The baseball link may have prompted Casey Stengel to joyously exclaim, "It's great to be back as the manager of the Knickerbockers!" when he was named pilot of the newborn Mets in 1961).

Thus, the Knickerbocker name had been an integral part of the New York scene for more than a century when the Basketball Association of America granted a charter franchise to the city in the summer of 1946. As can best be determined, the final decision to call the team the "Knickerbockers" was made by the club's founder, the legendary Ned Irish.

The late Fred Podesta, the longtime Garden executive who passed away in 1999, once recalled, "The name came out of a hat. We were all sitting in the office one day - Irish, (publicity man) Lester Scott and a few others on the staff. We each put a name in the hat, and when we pulled them out, most of them said Knickerbockers, after Father Knickerbocker, the symbol of New York City. It soon was shortened to Knicks."

In keeping with another New York tradition, the team's colors have always (except for the years from 1979-80 through 1982-83) been orange, blue and white...the official colors of New York City.

So now you know.

The Logo…

Including minor color and style alterations, the Knicks have used only three primary logos in their 68-year history:

Father Knick: The original Knicks logo, used from the inaugural 1946-47 season through 1963-64, was that of a smiling Father Knickerbocker dribbling a basketball, the brainchild of famed sports cartoonist Willard Mullin of the New York World-Telegram.

Old School Classic: For the 1964-65 season, the Knicks unveiled their "classic roundball" logo, created by artist Bud Freeman of the J.C. Bull advertising agency. It was the logo under which the Knicks won both of their NBA Championships, and, with minor color and style alterations, remained in use through 1991-92, a total of 28 seasons.

Alterations to the "classic roundball" logo included maroon lettering (1980-81 through 1982-83), and the "brown ball" (1983-84 through 1988-89) and "orange ball" (1989-90 through 1991-92) versions that were introduced to more closely conform to standard PMS colors.

During the late '60s and early '70s, the Knicks also used a secondary "ball-in-the-box" logo on game tickets and selected club merchandise.

The Triangle: On Jun. 17, 1992, the Knicks unveiled a unique, updated version of the club logo, featuring three-dimensional, modernized lettering newly framed in a triangle. The new logo was designed by NBA Marketing, an effort headed by creative director Tom O'Grady.

In 1995-96, the words "New York" were added at the top of the logo. In 2011-12, several subtle style changes were made, including bolder trim, a shade of silver and the elimination of the black dropshadow beneath the letters.

The "triangle" logo will be in use for its 22nd season in 2013-14. While the Knicks logo has sometimes been depicted without the triangle in recent years, the "triangle" version - and nothing else - is the definitive primary club symbol.

And More: While the "triangle" logo remains the Knicks' primary trademark, the club has used several additional secondary logos, including the Golden Anniversary logo in 1996-97, the "Knicks 2000" millennium logo in 1999-2000, the familiar "NYK Subway Token" logo, and – introduced in 2011-12 – a newly-designed "roundball" logo that updates the "ball-in-the-box" emblem of the late '60s and early '70s.

First introduced in 1995-96 and widely used over the past decade, the "NYK Subway Token" logo took on additional nostalgic value with the formal retirement of the subway token by the city's Transportation Authority in spring 2003. Several subtle changes, including a thinning of the letter font, were incorporated into the "Subway Token" logo in 2011-12. The "Subway Token" logo was added to the backs of the players' jerseys in 2002-03, then replaced by the new secondary "roundball" logo as part of a new uniform design unveiled on Sep. 6, 2012.

Apr. 12, 1952: In the first game of the NBA Finals against the Lakers at St. Paul, the Knicks are victimized by a legendary non-call by officials Sid Borgia and Stan Stutz. Late in the first period, New York's Al McGuire hits a driving layup, and is fouled. However, McGuire is sent to the line for two free throws...Borgia and Stutz merely called the foul, and neither saw the ball go in the basket! Despite the protestations of coach Joe Lapchick (including a personal appeal to NBA commissioner Maurice Podoloff, seated at courtside), the call stands. McGuire goes to the line and hits one of two free throws. So, instead of a possible three points on the play, the Knicks get just one. Ultimately, it proves most costly as the Lakers win in overtime, 83-79, en route to a seven-game series triumph.

Jan. 21, 1954: The Old Garden hosts the NBA All-Star Game for the first time, and 16,487 see the East triumph in overtime, 98-93 behind Bob Cousy's 20 points. George Mikan's two (underhanded) free throws with no time left in regulation send the game into the extra session. It's the first of three NBA All-Star Games that will be played at the Old Garden.

Mar. 2, 1962: In the greatest single-game scoring performance in NBA history, Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain scores 100 points as the Warriors defeat the Knicks, 169-147 at Hershey, PA. Philadelphia's 169 points still stand as an all-time opposition high vs. Knicks.

Dec. 27, 1967: Red Holzman is named head coach, replacing Dick McGuire (the two exchange positions, with McGuire named head scout).

Jan. 23, 1968: Three weeks before closing its doors forever, the Old Garden plays host to its third and last NBA All-Star Game. Before a sellout crowd of 18,422, Philadelphia's Hal Greer scores 21 points (19 in the third quarter) to lead the East to a 144-124 win. Of the 27 players and coaches selected to participate in the 1968 Game, 15 of them would be named among the NBA's 50 Greatest Players at the League's Golden Anniversary celebration in 1996-97. The '68 All-Star Game is the first NBA All-Star Game to be televised live from coast-to-coast on a major network (ABC) in prime time.

Feb. 10 and 14, 1968: Farewell to one home, hello to another. On the 10th, the Knicks play their last game at the Old Garden; then, four days later, play their first game at the New Garden. The Knicks win both, taking the finale on 49th Street, 115-97 over the 76ers, then winning their first game at 33rd and Seventh, 114-102 over San Diego.

Dec. 19, 1968: The Trade...Walt Bellamy and Howard Komives to Detroit for Dave DeBusschere.

Nov. 28, 1969: "What a game! What a game!" shouts TV voice Bob Wolff. Knicks score six points in the final 16 seconds to defeat Cincinnati, 106-105, and run their winning streak to a then-NBA record 18 straight games (the streak will end the next night with a loss to Detroit at MSG). The game against the Bob Cousy-coached Royals is played at the old Cleveland Arena, later the original home of the Cavs and immortal in rock 'n roll history as the site of Alan Freed's legendary 1952 Moondog Coronation Ball.

May 8, 1970: CHAMPS! Knicks 113, Lakers 99 in Game Seven of the Finals at MSG. Willis Reed's (4 pts, 27 min) last-minute entrance ignites the Garden, then Knicks get 36 points and 19 assists from Walt Frazier to nail down their first NBA title.

Nov. 18, 1972: Trailing Milwaukee 86-68 late in the fourth quarter, Knicks run off 19 straight points in the game's final 5:11 to defeat the Bucks, 87-86 at MSG, in perhaps the most famous regular season game in club history.

Apr. 22, 1973: Roaring back from a 17-point second-half deficit, Knicks outlast Boston 117-110 in a double-overtime thriller in Game Four of the East Finals at the Garden. Walt Frazier leads the way with 37 points as Knicks take a 3-1 series lead over Boston.

Apr. 29, 1973: After squandering a 3-1 series lead with losses in Games Five and Six, Knicks nail down the Eastern Conference title with a do-or-die 94-78 Game Seven triumph at Boston, becoming the first team ever to defeat the Celtics in Game Seven of a Playoff series.

May 10, 1973: CHAMPS AGAIN! Knicks 102, Lakers 93 in Game Five of the Finals at the LA Forum. Earl Monroe scores a game-high 23 points while Willis Reed (16.4 points, 9.2 rebounds) is named Finals MVP for the second time in four years.

Jan. 31-Feb. 1, 1984: Back-to-back 50-point games for Bernard King (at San Antonio and Dallas).

Dec. 25, 1984: Bernard King authors the greatest single-game scoring performance in franchise history, pouring in 60 points in a 120-114 Christmas Day loss to New Jersey at the Garden.

Mar. 23, 1985: On his way to becoming the first Knick to lead the League in scoring (32.9 ppg) - and the last until 2012-13 - Bernard King suffers a torn right anterior cruciate ligament in a game at Kansas City, an injury that will haunt the Knicks for years to come.

May 12, 1985: Knicks win the first-ever NBA Lottery, enabling them to select Georgetown center Patrick Ewing in the upcoming NBA Draft.

Jan. 15, 1990: Trent Tucker's three-point bomb off a Mark Jackson inbound (coming with the bare minimum of 0:00.1 showing on the clock) gives the Knicks a 109-106 Martin Luther King Day win over Chicago at the Garden and leads the following year to the institution of the 0.3-second "Trent Tucker Rule".

May 6, 1990: Knicks complete one of the most stunning turnarounds in Playoff history with a 121-114 Game Five victory at Boston, enabling them to snap an overall 26-game losing streak at Boston Garden and become just the third team in League history to rally from an 0-2 deficit to win a best-of-five series.

Dec. 18, 1992: Two years after their fabled 1990 Playoff win, Knicks end another losing streak at Boston Garden with 113-87 rout of Celtics, snapping a 23-game regular season losing streak on the fabled parquet floor (first regular season win at Boston since Feb. 29, 1984).

May 25, 1993: In the final minute of Game Two of the East Finals against Chicago, John Starks authors perhaps the single most famous play in Knicks history, splitting the Bulls defense for "The Dunk", a driving, left-handed tomahawk slam that sends the Garden into a frenzy. Coming with :47.3 left, The Dunk gives the Knicks a five-point lead in their eventual 96-91 win. (Knicks led series 2-0 after this game, but would fall to the Bulls in six).

Dec. 16, 1993: Patrick Ewing becomes the Knicks' all-time leading scorer with his 14,618th career point, passing Walt Frazier (14,617)... Ewing's record-breaker is a 12-foot baseline jumper (Oakley assist) with 9:39 left in the third quarter of a 108-85 win over the Lakers at MSG.

May 22, 1994: Knicks end the three-year championship reign of the Chicago Bulls with an 87-77 win in Game Seven of the East Semis at MSG.

Jun. 5, 1994: Knicks earn their first trip to the NBA Finals in 21 years, defeating Indiana 94-90 in Game Seven of the East Finals at MSG. Ewing (24 points, 22 rebounds) authors the game's key play, a follow-up, two-handed slam of Starks' missed layup, to give NY the lead for good with :26.9 left.

Jun. 22, 1994: Knicks title dreams fall one game short of reality as they lose Game Seven of the NBA Finals, 90-84 at Houston. It's their 25th Playoff game of the season, an all-time NBA record that would not be broken until 2008 (Boston).

Mar. 28, 1995: The Double Nickel Game...Two weeks after returning to basketball, Chicago's Michael Jordan scores 55 points (21-37 FGA, 3-4 from Downtown, 10-11 FTA) to lead the Bulls to a 113-111 win over the Knicks at MSG.

Jun. 15, 1995: Pat Riley resigns as head coach, after leading Knicks to four 50+ win seasons, two Atlantic Division titles, two trips to the Conference Finals, and the 1994 Eastern Conference Championship.

Oct. 29, 1996: The NBA unveils its 50th Anniversary team to include Dave DeBusschere, Patrick Ewing, Walt Frazier, Jerry Lucas, Earl Monroe and Willis Reed.

Dec. 30, 1996: The team records its 2,000th regular season victory, defeating the New Jersey Nets, 98-86, at Madison Square Garden.

Dec. 20, 1997: Ewing suffers the most devastating injury of his career, a Lunate dislocation and torn ligaments of the right wrist, in the final seconds of the first half of a 98-78 loss at Milwaukee. The injury will sideline the perennial All-Star until the second round of the Playoffs.

Feb. 8, 1998: Garden IV hosts its first NBA All-Star Game, the first mid-season classic in New York in 30 years. An All-Star for the 12th time, Chicago's Michael Jordan earns MVP honors with 23 points in the East's 135-114 win.

Nov. 13, 1998: Leukemia claims the life of Hall of Fame Coach Red Holzman at age 78.

May 16, 1999: The Shot (first version)...Allan Houston's running one-hander hits off both the rim and the backboard, then drops through with :00.8 left, giving the Knicks a thrilling 78-77 win in the deciding Game Five of the first Playoff round at Miami. Knicks become just the second eighth-seeded team in Playoff history to defeat a first-seed, and knock the arch-rival Heat out of the Playoffs for the second of three straight years.

Jun. 5, 1999: The Shot (second version)...Larry Johnson's first career four-point play (3PT FGM, fouled by Antonio Davis, FTM), with :05.7 left, echoes throughout the basketball world and gives the Knicks a 92-91 win over Indiana in Game Three of the East Finals at MSG.

Jun. 11, 1999: Knicks become the first eighth-seeded team in NBA history to win a conference title, defeating Indiana 90-82 in Game Six of the East Finals at MSG, to earn their second Eastern Conference Championship in the decade of the '90s.

Sep. 20, 2000: An unforgettable era comes to an end as future Hall of Famer Patrick Ewing - the all-time franchise leader in virtually every category and arguably the greatest Knick of all time - is traded to the Seattle SuperSonics in a four-team, 12-player trade, at the time the largest single trade in NBA history.

Mar. 14, 2004: In the biggest recorded comeback in team history, Knicks roar back from a 26-point deficit (65-39) to defeat Milwaukee, 103-100, at the Bradley Center.

Apr. 14, 2013: In his final game of the regular season, Carmelo Anthony scores 25 points in a 90-80 win over Indiana, finishing a season in which he will average 28.7 ppg and join Bernard King (1984-85) as the only Knicks in franchise history to lead the NBA in scoring.

YOUNGEST/OLDEST PLAYERS

In 2004 and 2005, Trevor Ariza and Jackie Butler surpassed Carl Braun as the youngest man to have ever worn the orange and blue. Braun signed a baseball contract after his sophomore year at Colgate and forfeited his amateur status across the board in all sports. The Knicks signed him in the summer of '47, two years before his class graduated and he made his pro basketball debut on Nov. 13, 1947 against Washington.

4 Garden Games on Knicks' Holiday Card

Young Mikan Budding Star

Following in his big brother George's footsteps, and here Christmas night with the Chicago Stags against the Knickerbockers, in Madison Square Garden, will be Ed Mikan, from De Paul University.

The Mikans led De Paul in scoring the past six years—George from 1942-43 through 1945-46 and Ed in 1946-47 and 1947-48. Even in comparison with his 6-10 brother Ed is no midget. He stands 6-8 and weighs 230 pounds.

Ed scored 463 points for the Blue Demons last winter and was co-captain with Whitey Kachan, who is also now with the Chicago Stags. The younger Mikan was the Stags' first choice in the draft last Spring and has been seeing more service than the Chicago club's Stan Miasek, BAA's fifth leading scorer last season with 716 Pts.

While De Paul was eliminated in the semi-final round of the 1948 National Invitation Tournament, in the Garden, by NYU, Ed emerged the tourney's top scorer with 64 points, 11 more than Ray Lumpp, the runner-up.

Carl Braun (left) and Bud Palmer who are leading the Knicks in scoring. Braun was top man last season with 671 points. Palmer scored 622.

Bottoms up! This unusual shot shows Bud Palmer, of the Knicks, and Sonny Hertzberg, Washington, the former City College ace, fighting for the ball.

Knick Rookies Talk of League

Rival Coaches, Fans Praise McGaha, Ritter

While the Basketball Assn. of America race has a long way to go, the New York Knickerbockers' two rookie stars, Goebel Ritter, Eastern Kentucky State, and Melvin McGaha, Arkansas University, are already drawing the praise of opposing coaches, the fans and writers around the circuit.

Ritter has been a revelation with his speed, hard driving on cuts for the basket and one-hand shooting, while McGaha's steadiness, ball handling and accuracy have paid big dividends for Joe Lapchick's squad. As they say of McGaha he doesn't shoot often, but when he does he seldom misses. Mel has a shooting percentage of 49 percent, truly remarkable when 33 percent is rated excellent.

Speaking of McGaha, Coach Lapchick said: "Mel is like an old pro. He doesn't believe in throwing the ball away. When he takes a shot he's in good position to score, and he knows what to do with the ball when he's too closely guarded to try for a basket. He isn't a reckless heaver.

When he got his chance to play for longer periods Ritter started closing in on the Knickerbockers' leading scorers. He was exceptionally effective, contributing 22 points, when the Knicks defeated the Philadelphia Warriors recently at the 69th Regt. Armory.

Another feature of the Knicks' play to date has been the improvement in Bill Van Breda Kolff, former Princeton captain.

Chicago Here Xmas Night

All wrapped up in Christmas bunting is a special holiday package for the followers of the Knickerbockers. From Wednesday, Dec. 22, through Saturday, Jan. 1, the Knicks meet four of the strongest and most popular clubs in the Basketball Assn. of America—and all four games will be played in Madison Square Garden.

The Minneapolis Lakers, led by the mighty George Mikan, open the holiday invasion on Wednesday night, Dec. 22, with the Knicks striving to atone for the 77-68 defeat hung on them by the Lakers here last Nov. 11.

Christmas night, the colorful Chicago Stags move into the Garden for their first meeting this season with the Knicks. Back with the Stags are all of last year's stars, including Max Zaslofsky, the Brooklyn boy and former St. John's star who led the BAA in scoring last year with 1,007 points.

Wednesday night, Dec. 29, the Rochester Royals, with five former Met college stars on the squad, are back for their second Garden clash with Joe Lapchick's club. And on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 1, New Year's Day, the Knicks will be host to the Philadelphia Warriors, led by the high scoring Joe Fulks.

Minneapolis won the National League championship last season with Mikan rewriting all of the scoring records for that circuit and being voted the most valuable player in the loop. Big George scored 1,195 points, averaging 21.3 per game. He set a single game mark of 42 against Ft. Wayne; most field goals in one game, 17 against Rochester; most field goals for one season, 406, and most free throws, 383.

A newcomer with the Chicago Stags is Ed Mikan, from De Paul, George's younger brother. Ed stands 6-8 and led De Paul in scoring the last two years. He was also top man in the 1948 National Invitation Tournament.

"Hardly any bothersome Clean-up with SEAMLESS Pro-Cap Athletic Tape"

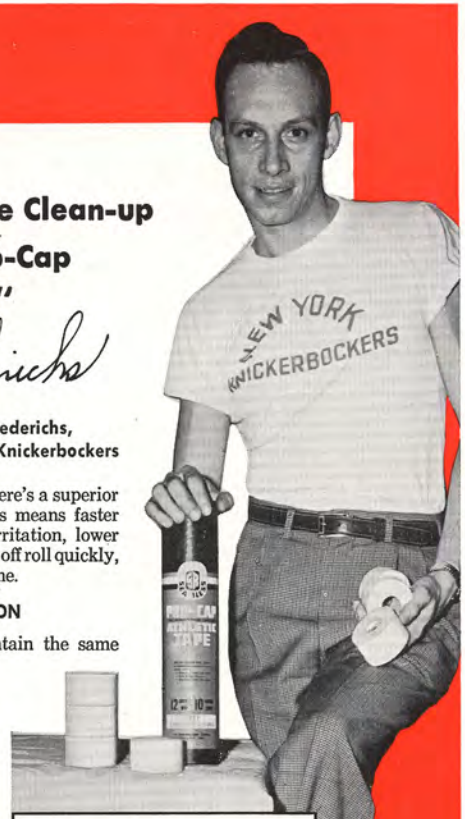
Says Don Friedrichs

Donald C. Friederichs,
Trainer, New York Knickerbockers

Athletic tape removes cleanly when there's a superior bond of adhesive mass to cloth. This means faster treatment of athletes, less benzine irritation, lower benzine costs. Seamless Pro-Cap comes off roll quickly, conforms smoothly, saves valuable time.

LITTLE OR NO IRRITATION

Seamless Pro-Cap athletic tapes contain the same exclusive adhesive mass — incorporating fatty acid salts — which has made Seamless Pro-Cap Adhesive Plaster a specified tape for osteopathic purposes. Independent clinical tests prove that Pro-Cap causes little or no skin irritation, minimizes itching, sticks better.



Use the Right Tape for the Right Job

SEAMLESS Pro-Cap Regular — Use this heavyweight tape where strong support is needed.

SEAMLESS Pro-Cap Sportape — An ideal lightweight tape for bandaging and taping where rugged support is not required.

SEAMLESS Pro-Cap Husky — For utility purposes, you can't beat tough, economical Pro-Cap Husky. Use the right tape —and save.

Write for FREE Strapping Booklet

Available now—Eddie O'Donnell's popular book "The Strapping of Athletes." Forty-five taping problems with illustrated strapping techniques. Training tips and hints. A "must" in the trainer's bag. Act now while supply lasts.

Welcome to the 2013-14 Knickerbockers season, New York's 68th campaign as a charter member of the NBA. Here are a few guidelines which we hope will assist you in your coverage this season:

Credentials: Three media credentials are honored for admission to the Garden: 1) Knicks 2013-14 season working media passes; 2) Knicks daily passes (good for that specific game only), and 3) 2013-14 NBA identification card. Knicks and/or NBA season working media passes must include the headshot of the bearer. Holders of daily passes may be asked to submit a valid government-issued photo ID. NO OTHER CREDENTIALS WILL BE HONORED.

Application for season or game credentials may be made by emailing knicks.credentials@msg.com and must be submitted by your outlet's editor. Requests for single game credentials must be made by e-mail to the Knicks' office at least 48 hours prior to game time. Day-of-game requests will not be honored. Radio stations, magazines and weekly newspapers will be accommodated on a game-by-game, space-available basis. When applying for the first time, requests from magazines and weekly newspapers, websites, radio and TV stations must be made on company letterhead and must include copies of the publication (if applicable). Applying for credentials does not guarantee confirmation. When in the Garden, media members must wear their credentials in clear sight at all times. All credentials are non-transferable. Please adhere to the above to avoid embarrassing situations for both yourself and for us.

Coaches Pre and Post-Game: Knicks Head Coach Mike Woodson will conduct his pre and post-game media sessions in the Press Conference Room, located down the hall from the visitors' lockerroom, on the fifth floor. A multi-box/amplification system will be set up. During post-game coach's media sessions, priority must be given to those media on deadline (print and live broadcast), and interviews should be limited to game comments during the deadline crunch.

Game-Day Interviews: Participating radio and TV stations/networks are strongly urged to conduct their game-day interviews at the morning shootaround, rather than at the arena prior to the game.

Locker Rooms: Both the Knicks and visitors' locker rooms are located at court level on the 33rd Street (player benches) side of the Garden. As per NBA regulations, the Knicks' locker room will be open for a 45-minute period, ending 45 minutes prior to game time (for example, the room will be open from 6:00 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. for a 7:30 start). The room will reopen within 15 minutes after the final buzzer. During post-game media sessions, priority must be given to those media on deadline (print and live broadcast), and interviews should be limited to game comments during the deadline crunch. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a working atmosphere in the locker rooms at all times. Any media members using their credentials for the purpose of obtaining autographs or taking photographs for personal use will have their credentials immediately revoked.

Notes: Game notes are available in the John F.X. Condon Press Room beginning two hours prior to game time. (For visiting media, game notes, credentials, media guide and recent news clips will be delivered to their hotel the night before, or the morning of, the game). Game notes, running sheets, quarter-by-quarter sheets and box scores are all available from the Knicks gamenight staff, as well as in the press workroom during and after the game. Post-game quotes, notes, practice information and boxscores of other NBA games will be available in the press workroom as soon as possible after the game.

Parking: There is no media parking area at Madison Square Garden. However, there are numerous pay indoor and outdoor parking areas in the immediate vicinity.

Phones: Media wishing to order a phone line for their exclusive use should call Bill Bolan of Garden Telecommunications at (212) 465-6009, and must also inform Knicks PR so that a specific location can be assigned. Due to the quick changeover for other Garden events, all post-game stories should be filed from the press workroom and not from the press seats.

Photographers: Positions for credentialed photographers are numbered and located on the baselines at the Seventh Avenue and Eighth Avenue ends of the Garden. There are no photo positions along the sidelines. Freelance photographers will not be credentialed unless they are on specific assignment from a magazine or daily newspaper. No "roving" passes are issued.

Please Note The Following Photo Regulations:
- Please consult the posted photo charts for your assigned positions.
- Please do not move from your assigned photo positions during game action. Movement is permitted only during timeouts and quarter breaks.
- Please shoot only from your assigned positions unless cleared to move by a Knicks PR representative.
- Please do not move into any photo position marked "Reserved".
- Messengers are not permitted to sit at courtside.
- Please store all coats, jackets and extra equipment in the press room.
- Please keep your courtside equipment to a bare minimum (one small Domke bag).
- All still and TV photographers must observe the NBA's mandatory "Three-Foot Lane" rule.

Baseline photo positions are extremely limited. Due to frequent national TV coverage of Knicks home games, additional space must be reserved for hand-held TV cameras and will greatly reduce the available space for still photographers.

In addition to the "Three-Foot Lane" rule, please be aware of other NBA-enforced regulations: All still and TV cameras must have rubber-capped lenses. Cameras mounted on the basket stanchion must be set back at least four inches from the edge of the padding. Cameras mounted behind the backboard cannot be visible inside the target box from any angle. Tripods and remote cameras placed on the court surface are not permitted. Use of flash is not permitted.

Pregame Court Access: Media are permitted to stand courtside to watch pregame warm-up starting with 90 minutes on the game clock. However, media must remain on the baselines and sidelines of the court. Under no circumstances, should media walk directly on the inbound portion of the court or interrupt player pregame warm-up routines. At the 5:00 mark on the game clock, all media without courtside positions must leave the court and head to their game-time assigned area.

Practices: Knicks practice sessions are held at Madison Square Garden Training Center in Greenburgh, NY, located in Westchester County approximately 28 miles north of New York City.

Players will be available on the court for 15-30 minutes after practice. Player availability will be preceded by a media session with Coach Woodson. At game-day shootarounds, players will be available either before or after the session.

Knicks practices are always subject to last-minute change and/or cancellation. Media covering practice should always call the Knicks PR office to confirm times before trekking to Greenburgh.

The Road to Greenburgh: Here are the suggested routes to MSG Training Center:

Use the press elevator to enter the Garden arena. The locker rooms and court are located on level five, the John F.X. Condon Press Room on level six.

Press Room: Named in memory of the legendary public address voice of the Garden, the John F.X. Condon Press Room is located on the first promenade level of the Garden at 33rd Street and Eighth Avenue (behind the Knicks' bench, one level up). From the press entrance, take the elevator directly to level six.

The fifth floor dining area (hot and cold entrees) opens 90 minutes prior to game time. The press workroom is located above the dining area, with work stations for print, photo and broadcast media. The press workroom is for the exclusive use of working media filing on deadline. Please confine all social gatherings, arguments, debates and other such conversations to the dining area, so that a professional atmosphere can be maintained in the workroom. If you are not a working media member filing on deadline, please show a sense of professionalism and leave the work area for those who are.

Your $8 contribution to the press room will benefit "Garden of Dreams Foundation," the 501 C 3 non-profit charity that works closely with the Knicks and Rangers to make dreams come true for kids in crisis. Thank you for your support.

Your press room hosts are Joe Pinto, Tom Matthews and Anthony DiGiovanni.

Seating: Press seating at the Garden has been altered due to the completion of the Transformation. There are three working press sections: 215P, 31st Street Bridge (located between Tower A & B) and 223P. Home and visiting English radio remain in section 223P, while Spanish radio has been relocated to the 31st Street Bridge.

Please check the seating chart located in the Press Room to see where you will be seated. If you are not listed on the chart, you can watch the game from the press room.

Taxi!: Taxi service is readily available virtually 24 hours a day at various points around the Garden, especially at the main entrance to Penn Station (Seventh Avenue between 31st and 33rd Streets) and immediately outside the 8 Penn Plaza press entrance (southeast corner of 33rd Street and Eighth Avenue, across from the Post Office).

Television Regulations:

Live Shots: Stations intending to produce live shots from the Garden must inform Knicks PR and MSG Electricians at (212) 465-6194 for appropriate coverage. All in-arena taping and live shots must be concluded by one hour prior to game time.

Game Footage: With the exception of NBA Entertainment, TV crews are not permitted to shoot game footage. All requests for game footage must be made through NBA Entertainment.

Electricians: Any TV stations or organizations whose equipment is not battery-operated must use MSG Electricians for connection to power. Call (212) 465-6194 for more information.

Original list compiled by Dave Halberstam & Dick Barhold

When usually I came to visit him at dusk there was nothing to do. He stood in the shack, counting tickets and rubbing his belly. The radio was always on. "Man, have you dug that mad Marty Glickman announcing basketball games – up-to-midcourt-bounce-fake-set-shot, swish, two points. Absolutely the greatest announcer I ever heard." He was reduced to simple pleasures like these.

THE WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS ARENA

...soon they'll have theirs

The scene is the new Madison Square Garden Center, as it appeared several months ago. Most of its steel framing was already in place. Overhead, Bethlehem crews were erecting the steel cables that will support the roof.

That was our show. Later this year the Sports and Entertainment Center will open to the many activities represented in our photograph—and more.

New York has had three Madison Square Gardens, but never one to equal this one. Circular in shape, 425 feet in diameter, it is as tall as a 13-story building. And because those cables support the roof, there are no columns inside. Every one of the 20,234 seats will have a perfect view of the action.

Bethlehem supplies construction steels for schools, motels, apartments, hospitals and buildings of many kinds. Other types of Bethlehem steel go into bedsprings, appliances, handyman's tools, and automotive products.

The floor of Madison Square Garden itself is 45 feet above the street. Below the floor are a 48-lane bowling center, a 5,227-seat forum, a 501-seat cinema, the Hall of Fame, and the National Art Museum of Sport. Steel girders and trusses frame the building's various levels, and support the entire structure above Penn Station, which was entirely rebuilt below street level.

1879-1889: 26th Street and Madison Avenue

BEGINNINGS

The current Garden - located between 31st and 33rd Streets and Seventh and Eighth Avenues on Manhattan's West Side - is the fourth building (third site) to be named Madison Square Garden.

Garden I I was located at Madison Square: 26th Street and Madison Avenue. It was originally opened in 1874 (at a cost of $35,000) by the legendary P.T. Barnum as "Barnum's Monster Classical and Geological Hippodrome". However, it was soon renamed "Gilmore's Garden" when the lease was auctioned off to bandmaster Patrick S. Gilmore (the term "Garden" was used often during this period to denote a place of public gathering and entertainment).

The building, which had 28-foot walls without a roof, hosted a varied schedule of social and fraternal meetings, flower shows and commercial exhibitions. When Gilmore's lease expired in 1878, it was picked up - briefly - by W. M. Tileson. The following year, William Vanderbilt of the New York Central Railroad assumed control of the facility and officially renamed it "Madison Square Garden" on May 31, 1879. Featuring a sports and entertainment program that stressed such events as boxing and the National Horse Show, Garden I stood until its demolition in 1889.

Garden II was constructed on the site of Garden I, opening on Jun. 16, 1890 at a cost of $1.5 million. It contained an 8,000-seat main arena, 1,500-seat concert hall, 1,200-seat theatre and the world's largest indoor swimming pool. The Spanish Renaissance-style structure was topped by its most famous feature: a 32-story tower and roof garden atop which stood Augustus Saint-Gauden's gold statue of Diana, Goddess of the Hunt.

Stanford White, the renowned architect who designed Garden II, also figured in its most famous - and infamous - event. On the night of Jun. 25, 1906, White was gunned down in the Garden's rooftop garden by Pittsburgh millionaire Harry Thaw, allegedly in revenge for White's long-standing affair with Thaw's wife, showgirl Evelyn Nesbit. The White-Thaw-Nesbit love triangle was ultimately immortalized in the 1955 film The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing - starring Ray Milland as White and Joan Collins as Nesbit - and in the recent best-seller American Eve by Paula Uruburu (Riverhead Books, 2008). Nesbit died in obscurity in California at age 81 in 1967.

Garden II hosted a sporting card heavy with boxing, wrestling, six-day bicycle races and horse shows, along with national events such as the 1924 Democratic National Convention, a marathon that lasted through 16 days and 103 ballots. Movie buffs will recall that in Orson Welles' 1941 classic Citizen Kane, Charles Foster Kane's acceptance of the 1916 New York gubernatorial nomination takes place at Garden II (although, obviously, it wasn't actually filmed there).

Garden II closed with a boxing card on May 5, 1925, followed by a mournful eulogy by ring announcer Joe Humphreys: "Farewell to thee, o temple of fistiana. Farewell to thee, o sweet Miss Diana...". The New York Life Insurance Building (51 Madison Ave.) occupies the former site of Gardens I and II, while Diana found a new home at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

Garden III - the "Old Garden" - was built in just 249 days at 49th Street and Eighth Avenue under the watchful eyes of promoter Tex Rickard and architect Thomas Lamb. The fabled 18,000-seat arena, built at a cost of $5.6 million, opened with a six-day bicycle race on Nov. 24, 1925, and for 43 years was America's premier sports and entertainment showplace. Ironically, Rickard did not live to see the blossoming of Garden III, suffering a fatal appendicitis attack on Jan. 6, 1929.

1890-1925: 26th St. and Madison Ave.

Anyone who ever set foot in the Old Garden remembers its unforgettable atmosphere...the sky-high balcony...the haze from decades of cigarette smoke...the main lobby, a schmoozer's paradise... the marquee...G.O. Cards... the organ (played first by Gladys Goodding, later by Virginia Thomas)...the unmistakable voice of John Condon...the Nedick's and Adam Hats stores that flanked the main entrance...

Sports – especially basketball, hockey, boxing and track – would be the life-blood of the Old Garden. But it also hosted entertainment extravaganzas ranging from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus and the Gene Autry Rodeo to star-studded spectacles like Mike Todd's 1957 anniversary party for his film Around the World in 80 Days and President John F. Kennedy's May 19, 1962 birthday party which featured Marilyn Monroe's breathless version of "Happy Birthday". On the screen, the Garden provided the inspiration (and title) for the 1932 Paramount epic Madison Square Garden, starring Jack Oakie and ZaSu Pitts, as well as the on-location backdrop for the harrowing final reel of John Frankenheimer's 1962 classic The Manchurian Candidate.

1925-1968: 49th Street and Eighth Avenue

The Knicks played their first game at Garden III on Nov. 11, 1946, losing to the Chicago Stags 78-68 in overtime. In the 22 years the Knicks played on 49th Street, they would record just six sellouts, including the most famous of all – the long-awaited pro debut of Bill Bradley against Detroit before 18,499 fans and a worldwide media contingent on December 9, 1967.

Garden III played host to three NBA All-Star Games: in 1954, 1955 and 1968. And although the Knicks made the NBA Finals three straight years in 1951-52-53, the Old Garden never hosted a Finals game. Due to circus scheduling conflicts, all Finals games in those three seasons were moved to the 69th Regiment Armory on Lexington Ave. The Garden didn't host an NBA Finals game until 1970, two years after the move to 33rd and Seventh.

The Knicks played their final game at the Old Garden on February 10, 1968, a 115-97 win over Philadelphia. The last event ever was the Westminster Dog Show, over February 12-13, 1968. After the Old Garden was demolished, the site was used for years as a Kinney parking lot. The Worldwide Plaza office/apartment complex, which opened in 1989, now occupies the site.

GARDEN IV

On Nov. 3, 1960, Garden president Irving Mitchell Felt announced plans for a new Madison Square Garden - Garden IV - to eventually be built at 33rd Street between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, atop Pennsylvania Station.

Prospective sites for a New Garden had been discussed throughout the mid- and late-'50s, especially the area at Columbus Circle which would eventually house the New York Coliseum and, ultimately, the Time Warner Center.

Then the Garden Corporation obtained the coveted "air rights" above Penn Station from the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1961. The Railroad had entertained the idea of selling Penn Station's air rights as far back as 1951, when faced with a $72 million deficit. In 1955, Railroad president James Symes and famed real estate developer William Zeckendorf signed an agreement to option the Station's air rights for an industrial-commercial "Palace of Progress", with a new, renovated Penn Station below street level. When the project fell through, the Railroad sold the air rights to the Garden Corporation. Above-ground demolition of Penn Station began on October 28, 1963, with new concrete poured starting on May 1, 1964.

The effort was not without its critics, one of whom called the destruction of Penn Station "an act of irresponsible public vandalism." Ultimately, Penn Station's legacy was the New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission, the guiding force behind a series of laws that today protect more than 1,000 individual city landmarks.

Garden IV opened as a glittering sports and entertainment showplace, with its distinctive circular, cable-suspended roof above the 19,000-seat arena, its 5,000-seat Felt Forum, 48-lane Bowling Center, 500-seat cinema, Hall of Fame Club, National Art Museum of Sport, 50,000-square foot Exposition Rotunda and 29-story office building (Two Penn Plaza) attached by a pedestrian mall.

The first element of the New Garden complex to open its doors was the Bowling Center, on October 30, 1967. On Nov. 26, 1967, the Felt Forum opened with a performance of the Welsh and Scots Guards.

The "New Garden" itself officially opened on Feb. 11, 1968, when Bob Hope and Bing Crosby hosted "The Night of the Century", a star-studded salute to the USO. Three days later - February 14, 1968 - the Knicks played their first game in their new home, a 114-102 victory over the San Diego Rockets in the nightcap of an NBA doubleheader.

INSIDE THE GARDEN

- Cost for design and construction of the present Garden was $43 million.
- Garden IV was built by Turner Construction and the Del E. Webb Corporation. The building was designed by Charles Luckman, the fabled entrepreneur and architect who died in 1999. Luckman also designed the Los Angeles Convention Center, CBS Television City, the Prudential Center in Boston, the Johnson Space Center in Houston, and perhaps fittingly, The Forum in Los Angeles...which The Madison Square Garden Company acquired in 2011 and is scheduled to reopen following a massive renovation-transformation in early 2014.
- The Garden arena is 425 feet in diameter, 13 stories high, and occupies 820,000-square feet of real estate.
- Each of the four entrance/exit towers is over 100 feet high and contains at least 10 escalators.
- Seating capacity for Knicks basketball was 19,033 for the 2012-13 season, a figure revised in the wake of the Garden Transformation after it had been the familiar 19,763 since 1991-92. From Feb. 4, 1993 to Nov. 2, 2002, the Knicks compiled a streak of 433 consecutive home sellouts (regular season plus Playoffs, all at 19,763), the sixth-longest sellout streak in NBA history. The Knicks entered the 2013-14 season with a streak of 115 consecutive home sellouts.
- The Garden opened the 2013-14 season as the second-oldest arena in the NBA. Only Oakland's Oracle Arena (originally opened in 1966 as the Oakland Coliseum Arena) is older. The Garden and Oracle Arena have both undergone extensive renovations over the last two decades. The 2013-14 campaign will mark the Knicks' 46th full season (47th season overall) in Garden IV.

- And even though the original Penn Station was demolished nearly a half-century ago, several of its features survive. Sculptor Adolph Weinman's bronze statue of Pennsylvania Railroad President Samuel Rea, which once overlooked the main waiting room of Penn Station, now stands proudly at the Seventh Avenue entrance to Two Penn Plaza. Two of Weinman's 22 concrete eagles, which had adorned the Station's outside perimeter for 53 years, guard Seventh Avenue in front of Two Penn.

THROUGH THE YEARS

A look at the improvements/enhancements at Garden IV over the years:

1972: Garden IV becomes the first New York sports venue to install luxury boxes, formally named "Hall of Fame Lounges." The original deck of 11 luxury suites – each measuring 23x15 feet and accommodating 10 people – is installed above the mezzanine level on the 33rd Street side... Due to the ongoing luxury suite construction, basketball broadcast locations are moved to courtside and directly above center-court exit tunnels. Previously, they had been located in a two-level booth suspended from the roof.

1977: Original end zone scoreboards replaced by new 36-foot long scoreboards in each end zone, and smaller auxiliary boards on the facing of the mezzanine at center court. New boards feature tenth-of-a-second timing capabilities and black-and-white animated matrix boards.

1989-91: Over a three-year span, the Garden complex undergoes an extensive renovation program. Initially announced on Jan. 26, 1989, it is a multi-million dollar effort in which...

- Each of the original red, orange, yellow, green and blue seats is removed and replaced. Primary color scheme is now purple and teal.
- Existing scoreboards are replaced by a new computerized system that features the eight-sided Center Display Board (37 feet wide at the top, 34 feet wide at the bottom), complete with "GardenVision" color replay screens and multi-colored end zone boards, by White Way Company of Chicago. It is the first eight-sided scoreboard in a major U.S. arena. Original Garden sound system is also completely overhauled, including the replacement of the original center-hung "sound cluster" with an entirely new system of speaker clusters affixed to the arena ceiling.
- Original Hall of Fame Lounges (luxury boxes) are removed and replaced by a completely new deck of 89 Club Suites that encircles the entire arena, including a double-deck of suites on the Seventh Avenue end.
- The Paramount, a state-of-the-art, 5,600-seat theatre which quickly becomes a hub of Big Apple live entertainment, is constructed on the former site of the Felt Forum (renamed The Theatre in 1995, the WaMu Theatre in 2007, The Theatre at Madison Square Garden in 2009). Fronting the main entrance is the Garden Walk of Fame, which opens in 1992.
- Two major dining facilities - The Club Restaurant and the Play-By-Play sports bar and restaurant - are constructed on the former site of the Bowling Center and the Hall of Fame Club.
- Garden exterior completely renovated, including the installations of animated color matrix boards above the Seventh Avenue entrance to Penn Station and the Eighth Avenue facade.
- Dramatic upgrades and improvements in virtually all other facets of the Garden, especially concession stands (including all-new Food Courts), locker rooms, press room, box office, Garden Team Store and broadcast facilities.

1995: Knicks and Rangers locker room areas are further renovated and expanded, including increased player/locker space, expanded training and x-ray facilities and individual offices for all coaches.

2000-08: Ongoing improvement program in the new century featured "GardenVision" upgraded to HDTV format and continued expansion of locker rooms, coaches offices, arena sound system, video facilities and exterior advertising capability. Also added were fan amenities including an all-new Team Store at Gate 75, the Garden Pub at Gate 70, The Prime Rib at Gate 76, and the Live at the Garden music museum/pub at Gate 66. New courtside Club seating for Knicks basketball was established in 2006, with an entirely new LED and Matrix center scoreboard and side out-of-town boards installed the following year.

AND A NEW ERA DAWNS...

In fall 2013 the three-year, historic Transformation of Madison Square Garden will be completed, providing a significantly enhanced experience for customers, athletes, entertainers, suite holders and marketing partners, from the first row to the last. The project involves over 2.6 million man hours of union labor, the equivalent of at least 1,300 full-time jobs, creating as many as 3,700 union construction jobs. It will also restore The Garden's iconic ceiling and pay homage to the building's storied history. The project's architect is Brisbin Brook Beynon, Construction Manager is Turner and Project Manager is JLL.

Sparks, 67-57, before a crowd of 14,284 at the Great Western Forum. On Jun. 29, 1997, in front of a crowd of 17,780, the Liberty scored their first win at home, defeating Phoenix, 65-57.
